

SEEK TO AVERT WAR IF IT IS POSSIBLE

ENGLAND AND GERMANY MAKE PROPOSALS TO AUSTRIO-HUNGARY WITH THIS END IN VIEW.

TURKS STILL SKEPTICAL

Leading Peace Commissioner Arrives at Constantinople Primed To Assert Ottoman Empire's Demands.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 27.—That Great Britain and Germany may succeed in their endeavors to avert a general European war was quite generally believed in diplomatic circles. It is now asserted that Austro-Hungary is prepared to agree to the question concerning the future of Albania and the desire of Serbia for a port on the Adriatic Sea being settled in connection with all issues of the Balkan war as recently proposed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Even the occupation of the port of Durazzo by the Serbian troops will not necessarily change the international situation as it is a long step from the present occupation to permanent retention of the port by the Serbians which is a question that could be settled only by an agreement of the European powers.

The stumbling block in the way of an agreement by the envoys of Turkey and Bulgaria, however, remains very real. The Turks appear to show little disposition to submit to onerous terms. The negotiations are likely to continue for several days.

Are Skeptical.

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—Skepticism continues here in regard to the prospects of an understanding between Turkey and Bulgaria. Today's meeting of the Turkish and Bulgarian delegates at the village of Baghtche is not expected to go beyond a preliminary view of the conditions of a possible armistice.

The principal Turkish plenipotentiary Osman Mizami Pasha Turkish ambassador at Berlin arrived today as he broke his journey both at Vienna and Bucharest and had interviews with Counts Berchtold, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister and King Charles of Rumania.

Is Reported.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The United States cruiser Tennessee has reached Malta according to advices to the navy department today. After a short stop at the British coal port she will proceed to Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, to protect American and American interests there.

Sails at Once.

Malta, Nov. 27.—The United States cruiser Tennessee arrived here today from Gibraltar and after coaling will proceed to Smyrna for the protection of American interests there.

Are Safe.

Washington, Nov. 27.—All American citizens in Asiatic Turkey are safe according to the report to the state department by Consul General Hollis at Beirut, Syria, who announced the receipt of advices from various consuls throughout the district. Except for some excitement among the Mohammedans and at Haifa and Adana everything is reported quiet in this region.

Sofia, Nov. 27.—Several thousand Bulgarian recruits of the 1912 class have left the capital for the front in the last three days thus refuting statements published abroad that Bulgaria has sent her last man to the war area.

The recruits were well equipped and in high spirits. The government organ, Mir referring to the foreign assertions say there are plenty more recruits ready to occupy the barracks just vacated. Bulgaria, the newspaper adds, is now better prepared for war than at the beginning of the Balkan outbreak. The minister of war has summoned the recruits of the 1912 class to join their respective stations December 3.

Will Send Squadron.

Paris, Nov. 27.—Austria has decided to send a squadron to Durazzo on the Adriatic sea before it is permanently occupied by Serbia according to a Berlin dispatch to La Liberte.

She also will make a military demonstration toward Belgrade. The dispatch says that the uncompromising attitude of Austria has stiffened since yesterday.

Demand Recall of Troops.

Belgrade, Nov. 27.—The recall of the Serbian troops from the field in operations in Turkey is demanded by the newspapers here so that they may be available to defend the Serbian frontiers against attack.

Heavy Fighting.

Saloniki, Nov. 27.—Heavy fighting occurred today between a force of Turks retreating from Monastir and a Greek army at Sorowitz to the south of Monastir. It is reported that the Turks were routed after leaving 2,000 killed and wounded.

Interview Satisfactory.

London, Eng., Nov. 27.—The interview between the emperor of Russia and the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday was of a most satisfactory character according to dispatches reaching here this afternoon. Russia's intentions are declared to be undoubtedly pacific. This news taken in conjunction with the decision of Austro-Hungary to await the end of the war before forcing a solution of the dispute between herself and Serbia, will it is expected here, remove the dangerous pressure that has existed the past few days.

WHOLESALE DEATHS ARE INVESTIGATED

Authorities Puzzled Over The Mysterious Illness of Many Families.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Pittsburg, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Margaret Fahey, mother of the child who died last night of ptomaine poisoning which affected 30 or more persons in one section of the city was reported at the hospital this morning as being out of danger, although still very ill. John Stein another victim was unconscious but attendants said he was out of danger while 25 or more other persons were in various stages of convalescence. Physicians were of the opinion that no more fatalities would result.

Says Order Was Given.

As the result of an investigation this morning the brigadier general was arrested by military police in spite of his protest that the dispatch he had received was explicit and formal and had ordered a general mobilization.

At Adrianople.

Mustapha Pasha, Turkey, Nov. 27.—Fire, famine, flood and anarchy afflict the besieged Turkish fortress of Adrianople, according to reports brought here by fugitives from that city. Those refugees who have managed to escape through the lines of investment which are being drawn closer and closer every day around the Turkish stronghold declare that many buildings in the vicinity of the Selim mosque are on fire. Other districts of the city are deeply inundated with the waters of the rivers Maritza, Tunga and Arida which have overflowed their banks. The civilian population is declared to be short of food and among some classes a state approaching anarchy exists.

Germany Ready.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Provision against the possibility of the outbreak of war has been made by the German government, according to the socialist newspaper Vorwaerts. In discussing the new budget the newspaper points out that the item $31,500,000 entered as the general finance administration is really intended to pay for the enormous reserves of clothing and provisions for man and beast which the army and navy have accumulated against the possible outbreak of war. This conclusion is derived from what is already known of the current budget. The total increase in army and navy expenditures is therefore $45,750,000 instead of $14,250,000, as stated by the government.

Called Home.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, Nov. 27.—Austro-Hungarian subjects residing here who belong to the army reserve, have received orders to report to their regiment. Money has been sent to them to pay their railway fare as far as the frontier. Austrians and Hungarians employed in the German mining district have received similar orders.

FAILED TO CHANGE STORY OF WITNESS

McManigal, on Continued Cross-examination, Sticks to Statements Made As to Union Officials.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Nov. 27.—Senator John W. Kern, counsel for the defense at the dynamite conspiracy trial, today continued the cross-examination of Orlie E. McManigal. In his direct testimony McManigal named fifteen of the defendants as having helped him directly or indirectly in arranging explosions. Senator Kern sought by questions to bring out that the defendants met the dynamite merely by accident because of their being members of the iron workers' union. In response the witness insisted proposed explosions actually were talked of by union officials in various cities. In one instance a defendant was named by McManigal without having been seen by him. McManigal said he was returning to Indianapolis after blowing up a job at Superior, Wis., in August, 1910. J. J. McNamara said "A letter of thanks for the dynamite's visit to Superior" had been received from Fred Mooney, business agent at Duluth, Minn.

Denies He Was Spy.

Suggestions that Orlie E. McManigal in boldly blowing up jobs about the country actually was in the employ of the detectives who followed him, were set up by the defense at the dynamite conspiracy trial today. Senator W. Kern for the defense, flatly asked McManigal whether he while dynamiting was not in the employ of the National Erectors' association, an organization whose "open shop" policy was being opposed by the ironworkers' union. McManigal denied he was employed by any one other than J. J. McNamara, or that he acted as a "spy" in the ranks of the dynamiters.

SECRETARY ALVEY ADEE SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—A large bouquet of roses this morning adorned the desk of Second Assistant Secretary Alvey A. Ade, a reminder from the bureau chiefs of the State Department that this was his seventieth birthday anniversary. Mr. Ade was born at Astoria, N. Y., in 1842. In 1870 he was appointed secretary of legation at Madrid, and for forty-two years he has been in continuous service in the diplomatic branch of the government, mostly in high station. He became a clerk in the State Department in 1877, third assistant secretary in 1878, third assistant secretary of State in 1882, and second assistant secretary in 1886. No American diplomatist of the present day is so extensively known in his field of activities as is Mr. Ade, and few of the diplomatic notes issued from the State Department during the last quarter of a century have failed to receive his careful editing and emendation.

WOLGAST FAVORITE OVER RITCHIE IN THE FIGHT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—Ad Wolgast, a lightweight champion boxer, ruling a 2 to 1 favorite over William Ritchie in the betting on their round bout here Thanksgiving day did not lose his confidence in the fight. He was supremely confident of the outcome of his fight. He conferred with promoter James Cofreth regarding future matches. Cofreth has promised Wolgast a New Year's fight here if the champion's terms are reasonable. Wolgast has trained in a leisurely way for this fight and some critics have found fault with his condition.

LIQUOR DEALERS PLAN TO FIGHT SUFFRAGE CAUSE.

Official Organ of State Association Sounds Call for Saloon Men To Enter Fight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 27.—Apprised in a Madison news dispatch that suffrage leaders are planning for the election two years hence, "Progress," the official organ of the Wisconsin Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective association, has sounded a call to liquor interests to enter the fight in opposition to equal suffrage. The last issue, just out, editorializes as follows: "Is there any person with a common school education who does not understand why women want the ballot? The same reason given by the suffragists in Michigan. Boldness in Wisconsin. Only they do not really want to drive saloons out of politics—they want to drive saloons out of business entirely. Not much guessing is necessary as to what should be done in Wisconsin by the man who intends to remain in business. Do just what they intend to do in Madison—start work now." The editorial says the State Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective association took little interest in individual contests, but that the dealers were a liberal-minded man in the executive chair.

RELATES HOW BAIRD TREATED HIS WIFE

N. L. CARLE TESTIFIES REGARDING INCIDENTS ON WEDDING JOURNEY AS TOLD HIM BY SISTER.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOTION FOR NON-SUIT

Made by Attorney M. G. Jeffris This Morning Is Denied by Court and Examination of Witnesses Continues.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Continuing the examination of N. L. Carle in the $100,000 damage suit brought against him by Arthur A. Baird for alleged alienation of his wife's affections, now on trial in the circuit court, Attorney Jeffris sought to show that whatever Mr. Carle did in the case was on the utmost good faith. Various incidents which occurred on the wedding journey of Mr. and Mrs. Baird were aired in the testimony. It appeared that Mrs. Baird was in tears frequently on the trip west for various reasons. As Mr. Carle first heard of it, through Mr. Jeffris, and through Dr. Van Kirk to whom his sister gave an account of Mr. Baird's treatment of her. He learned that she had been left on several occasions, unnecessarily long, as she thought, that he had "sponged" on friends at Minneapolis and at Seattle, and that he had objected when she tried to read to him on the train, saying that "he didn't want to hear any more of such trash."

On direct examination also Mr. Carle told of his trip to Los Angeles in March of 1911, to secure his sister's furniture. He told of conversations with Mr. Baird and the latter's attorney and how he had secured the key to the apartments by giving Mr. Baird $200.

WAS SUPPOSED DEAD IN IROQUOIS FIRE

Nurse in Chicago Red Cross Hospital Thought Dead by Relatives For Over Nine Years.

This morning's dispatches tell the strange story of Mrs. Ella Mayhew, a nurse in the Red Cross hospital, Chicago, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Sidney Burrows, West Rapids, Wis.

For nine years Mrs. Burrows had mourned her mother as dead, supposing she had perished in the Iroquois fire. Mrs. Mayhew was not dead, however. She had been badly injured and taken to the Red Cross hospital, where for a long time her life hung by a thread, and her mind was blank. Upon her recovery she learned that supposing her to be dead, her husband had married again, and her only child Mrs. Burrows had changed her residence. Under the circumstances, Mrs. Mayhew or Mrs. Mayfield as she was, thought best to conceal her identity under an assumed name. She became connected with the hospital, where she was restored to life and her existence would probably never have been discovered were it not for the settlement of an estate in which she was identified. Her name was mentioned in the newspapers and was seen by the daughter. A long distance telephone call resulted and the well known voice of the mother answered.

According to the Milwaukee office of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis society, Mrs. Mayhew is well known in local medical circles, having delivered several addresses here. At present she is connected with the Minnesota Anti-Tuberculosis association.

HAMMOND'S VOCATIONAL SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

Indiana Town Has Made Arrangements Whereby Young Workers May Attend School Half a Day.

They do not like working to interfere with going to school in Hammond, Indiana. Special arrangements are made whereby boys and girls may work half a day in certain commercial establishments and attend school the balance of the day. Hammond is a manufacturing community, where the temptation to boys and girls is strong to leave school and earn a living. Supt. McDaniel's plan makes it possible for boys and girls to earn money, remain in school, and also make themselves more efficient industrially.

The plan at Hammond is based on a full realization of modern social and industrial conditions. Supt. McDaniel proceeds on the theory that, while there are certain general principles underlying all education, each community has its own special problems that are too often disregarded in the making of the schools. Besides the co-operative school and shop arrangement, Hammond maintains a night school with an attendance of 700, where boys and girls may not only make up elementary deficiencies, but also receive practical training in specific phases of commerce and industry.

Vocational guidance forms another feature of the Hammond plan. The schools furnish information about the various industries in the community, the salaries paid in different lines of work, the opportunities for advancement, hours of labor, permanency of employment, and all the details that are of value in determining a choice of employment. As early as the sixth grade the teacher tests the child's interest and ability in various forms of elementary industrial work, so that he may come to have some idea of a future vocation. The school authorities also maintain an employment bureau, where present and former pupils are registered and their qualifications carefully investigated.

AGED NEWSPAPER WOMAN DIED MONDAY

Mrs. Sarah Madden Bolens of Port Washington Passes Away—Helped Husband Start Democrat in This City.

With the death of Mrs. Sarah Madden Bolens, one of the oldest active newspaper women in Wisconsin, on Monday last, another old resident of Janesville has passed to the world beyond. While Mrs. Bolens has not lived in Janesville since the seventies and has made her home in Port Washington for many years, still old residents will remember when she was a resident of this city and with her husband edited the Democrat, which Mr. Bolens founded, now the Recorder.

Deceased was born in Madesville, Pa., named after her maternal grandfather, and married the late Eugene B. Bolens at Washington, Iowa, and assisted him in the publication of the Washington Democrat. Among other newspapers founded by her husband and in the publication of which she assisted were the Janesville Democrat now the Janesville Recorder, the Dodge County Democrat, now the Juneau Telephone, and the Port Washington Star.

In 1874 Mr. Bolens received the contract for doing the state printing at Madison, and the family resided at the capital city for four years. After a short residence at Fond du Lac, the family moved to Port Washington. Mrs. Bolens was a daughter of Jeremiah and Anna Madden Brown, and was one of ten children, all of whom lived to past eighty years. With her husband she attended nearly all the meetings of the old Wisconsin Editorial association during the sixties and seventies and was consequently well known to the early newspaper men of the state.

Mrs. Bolens is survived by two sons Albert D. and Harry W. Bolens, and six grandchildren all living in Port Washington, excepting Guy H. Shearer of Filer, Idaho and Mrs. Willy Jaffe of Milwaukee.

The funeral was held at Juneau this afternoon at three o'clock and the interment was in the family lot, besides her husband a son and an only daughter.

PLATTING FARM LAND IN CENTER OF CITY

City Engineer Doing Work in Order to Facilitate Description for Assessment Purposes.

Platting farm land in the very center of Janesville would appear at first thought to be strange and abnormal, but this is precisely what City Engineer C. V. Kerch and his assistants have been engaged in doing for several days past. This is being done for the purpose of accurately describing certain lands and water power lots heretofore described as that part of lots 1 and 2, section 26-12 bounded on the south by West Milwaukee Street, on the west by North River Street, on the north by the right-of-way of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, and on the east by Rock River. The formal order to do this work was passed by the City Council at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

City Clerk J. P. Hammariund was directed to draw orders on the City Treasurer for the November salaries; also for the regular monthly labor and service bills, which totaled $6,710.35. Orders were drawn in the sum of $23.05 in favor of William Fathers and James Heagney in payment of twelve days labor in the city parks from November 1 to 14 inclusive.

As Gray, Robinson and Company, the Manitowish contractors have finished their work in this city the Clerk was directed to draw an order for $325.20 in their favor, this being a partial payment. It will be paid in amounts from the several funds as follows:

General fund	$36.80
Sewerage District, No. 3	350.00
Sewerage District, No. 14	15.00
Sewerage District, No. 16	223.40
Total	$325.20

The Board of Public Works presented a report stating that there was due G. D. Cannon for part of the curb and gutter work done on Pleasant Street from the railway tracks to Palm street $219.89; of this sum $191.99 will be paid by special assessment, and $27.90 from the Fifth Ward fund. It was stated in the report that a portion of the work done when the temperature was below freezing point was defective, especially in front of lots 78 and 79 in Mitchell's second addition. The Board recommended that certificates of special assessment be issued against all lots in front of which work was done except the two mentioned, that the certificates be signed and delivered to the contractor and an order for $27.90 be drawn in favor of Mr. Cannon. The report was accepted and acted upon.

W. E. Dulin, Superintendent of the Stone Crusher presented a report showing that 894 cubic yards of crushed stone had been taken from the city crusher in the time between November 11 and 23. Of this quantity 884 yards had been used by Gund, Graham and Company on Washington Avenue.

CAUGHT PICKPOCKET WHO "LIFTED" WATCH

G. A. Brewer Arrested by Police This Morning And Confessed to Stealing Watch of Edward Arneson.

Confronted by evidence of his guilt that he could not dispute, G. A. Brewer, placed under arrest by Patrolman Patrick Fanning this morning, confessed that he had sold the watch of Edward Arneson in a South River street second-hand store. A warrant was accordingly sworn out charging him with the theft of the watch from the person of Mr. Arneson. The watch was removed from the pocket of Mr. Arneson some time yesterday afternoon at the Weber bar-room. Mr. Arneson fell asleep and when he awoke and pulled up his watch chain he found no watch at the end of it. As Mr. Weber and Brewer were the only men there at the time suspicion at once rested on Brewer. The police were notified and found that Brewer had attempted last night to sell a watch at the Hand second-hand store but without success. Brewer, who was in an intoxicated condition admitted that the watch was a stolen one. Acting on his instructions Patrolman Fanning went to the second-hand store on South River street where he recovered the stolen watch. Brewer had traded this time-piece a Hampden watch worth $20 for a silver one and a dollar to boot. The silver watch was in his possession when he was arrested. He also had with him a big bottle of whiskey and a Chicago teamster's license.

STOMACH STARVERS EAT ANYTHING NOW

No Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Sour Gassy, Upset Stomach for "Pape's Diapepsin" Users.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no gas, no risings, no belching, no undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

HON. S. S. JONES IS CALLED BY DEATH

County Highway Commissioner Passes Away at Home Near Clinton Early Last Evening.

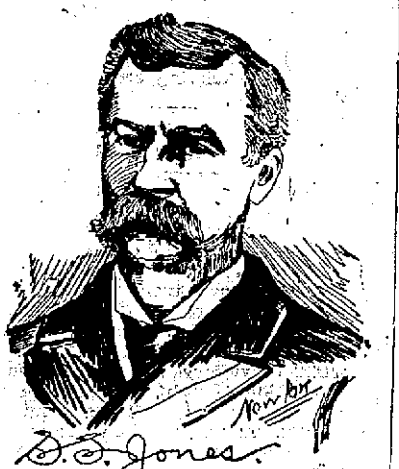

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, Nov. 27.—Hon. S. S. Jones county highway commissioner, died last evening at about half past six, at his home two and a half miles east of town on the Milwaukee road. Mr. Jones was one of Clinton's foremost citizens and had more staunch personal friends than any other of Clinton's residents. No man would go farther or do more to accommodate a friend than Mr. Jones. The entire community feel the loss of a personal friend.

Mr. Jones was widely known and respected throughout the county. In his capacity as highway commissioner for two years past he has served most efficiently and faithfully, taking trouble to give personal attention to many details and enduring many hardships of storm and exposure in the performance of his duties. He was highly esteemed by the various town chairmen with whom he had dealings in his highway work.

Mr. Jones was present at the county board meeting two weeks ago during part of the session and went with them to the county farm for dinner on Thursday, Nov. 14. He was then in the best of spirits and seemed to enjoy himself very much making no complaint as to illness. He heard Mr. Hotchkiss make his address to the board on the highway question, offered some remarks himself, referring to work which was then under way. He returned to his home that night and news of his illness was received by the board members before they adjourned.

Mr. Jones has been a member of the county board for a number of years representing Clinton township. He served for two years as chairman of that body. He was also member of the state assembly from the southern district during 1895 and 1896. He was 58 years of age. The funeral will be Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

S. S. Jones.

Dinner Stories

"I fear that Doctor Smith is treating you?" asked his friend.

"Yes," said Dobson.

"What is he doing to you?"

"Well," said Dobson, "we chat together, he writes prescriptions for me, I tear 'em up, and I get well."

Dr. Wekerle, Hungarian minister of finance, had a country-seat at Pils, near Buda Pesth, where he was in the habit of spending his Sundays. His only piece of luggage on these occasions consisted of a small handbag, which never contained anything but the regulation bottle, four handkerchiefs and a traveling cap. Returning one Monday to the capital, the minister met a friend, a gentleman named Von Fischer, who was carrying a bag exactly the counterpart of his excellency's valise. Herr von Fischer smiled a thoughtful smile as he noticed the similarity of the bags and whispered to the minister: "My bag is filled with smuggled Turkish tobacco. You will be good enough to shield me against the custom-house spies, I hope." The minister looked serious. "I will do nothing of the kind," he said, and when the two gentlemen arrived at the Pesth depot the minister beckoned to a custom-house official and said: "My friend desires to pay duty on a lot of Turkish tobacco he has in his bag." "His excellency is joking," cried the baron, who meanwhile had changed bags with the minister; "see, I have no contraband articles about me," and he opened the bag in proof of what he said. The minister looked perplexed for a moment, then he resolutely grabbed his friend's bag and said to the official: "Well, assess me for the tobacco, but be quick about it. I have no time to lose." The official acted on the suggestion, and the minister paid three florins and fifty pennings into the treasury of his own department. Then he jumped into the carriage and drove off, shouting out his thanks to the baron for his present of twenty pounds of excellent tobacco.

There has been considerable criticism of Joe Jackson of the Cleveland Naps in certain quarters. He has been called a "hold-out," etc., because he wants more pay. Why shouldn't a baseball player have the right to ask for a higher salary if he feels he deserves it? Possibly his salary in the past has not been equal to the services he has rendered.

If Jackson is a hold-out, so is Ty Cobb. Ty has asked for a bigger salary and it has not yet been granted. May be Ty was justified in asking a bigger salary too. He has been something of a gold mine for the Detroit club. Whether either player is worth more than his now getting may be a debatable question. Anyway, they ought not to be blamed for wanting all they can fairly get.

Those who saw Willie Hoppe play in the recent billiard tournament in New York are agreed that he stands an excellent chance of remaining at the top of the game for many years to come. He is still a young man, has nerves of steel and a temperament peculiarly fitted to the game he plays.

WESTERN FOOTBALL SEASON IS TO END

Thanksgiving Games Tomorrow Will Bring to Close College Football Season—Minor Exceptions.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Ill., Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving day games tomorrow will bring to an end the college football season of 1912, with few contests of great importance scheduled for the middle west. An intercollegiate game at St. Louis between Holy Cross and St. Louis University and a match at Milwaukee between Notre Dame and Marquette universities will furnish the principal attractions.

GREAT INTEREST IS SHOWN IN MANDOT-RIVERS BOUT.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 27.—Interest in the 20-round fight between Joe Mandot and Joe Rivers has been a noticeable degree as the date for the encounter approached and the Vernon pavilion promises to be well filled tomorrow with ring enthusiasts curious to see if Mandot can repeat his trick of last Labor Day by putting away the local favorite. The New Orleans boy is particularly anxious to defeat Rivers again since a victory will place him in direct line for lightweight championship.

At Orth, the veteran pitcher, now a member of the National League staff of umpires, will coach the Washington and Lee baseball squad at Lynchburg, Va., again next spring. Orth's coaching last year was productive of seventeen victories and only four defeats for the team.

Everybody but Owner Farrel of the New York Americans seems to be busy selecting a manager for that club to succeed Harry Wofford. The latest man to be named by the depositories for the job is Arthur Devlin, former veteran third baseman of the New York Giants, who is with the Boston Braves.

Since Harvard's sweeping victory over Yale last Saturday, a host of football critics have risen to remark that Percy Haughton, Crimson head coach, is a greater strategist than Walter Camp. He certainly organized and led to victory this year one of the finest football teams that the game has ever had. Heavy inducements will be held out by Harvard athletic authorities to keep Haughton as head coach. His present contract expired with the close of the 1912 season.

TINKER DEAL OFF DECLARES MURPHY

Manager of Chicago Cubs Says Negotiations With Cincinnati Are Ended.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Nov. 27.—All negotiations looking to the trading of Tinker of the Chicago National League team to Cincinnati are off. This announcement was made this afternoon by President Murphy of the Chicago club. If the trade had been consummated it was understood that Tinker would manage Cincinnati. Unconfirmed reports emanating from the meeting this afternoon had it that the magnates had found Fogel guilty of the charges and that they were debating as to what form a resolution condemning him should take.

MIDDLE WEST BOWLING TOURNAMENT TO OPEN.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—With 800 bowlers from half a dozen states entered, the annual championship tournament of the middle West Bowling association opens in this city tonight and will continue until December 9. An offering of $7,500 in prize money has attracted many of the best individual and team bowlers of Chicago, Omaha, Des Moines, Sioux City, St. Louis and a number of other cities of the middle West.

Turkey Day Games in South. Richmond, Va., Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving day will be marked by college gridiron battles in every part of the South. The schedule promises more than the ordinary number of important contests. In this city the old rivalry between Virginia and North Carolina universities will again be fought out. Vanderbilt and Sewanee will meet at Nashville. Clemson and Georgia Tech at Atlanta. Texas and Arkansas at Austin. Tulane and Mercer at Jacksonville. Alabama and Tennessee at Birmingham, and Georgia and Alabama Polytechnic at Athens.

JANESVILLE ELEVEN LEAVES FOR OSHKOSH

TEAM IS GIVEN ROUSING SEND-OFF AT NORTHWESTERN DEPOT AT NOON TODAY.

TITLE GAME THURSDAY

Local Players Are in Best of Form for Deciding High School Championship—Enthusiasm at Oshkosh.

Janesville high school football team will play at Oshkosh, on Turkey Day for the state championship of Wisconsin. The men are in fine condition, and are in to give the Sawdust City boys a good trimming, but it is doubtful as to what the outcome will be. Hemming will make the trip with the squad, and will be called upon if needed. The men will go into the game to win from the start, and will make an effort to win their heavier opponents off their feet.

Elder, Falter and Ryan are in the prime of condition, while Jimmy Stewart is laid up with a bad ankle. His condition is not thought serious, so he will start the game. Seventeen men made the trip, leaving at noon today over the Northwestern road. Practically every student in high school went to the depot at noon today and joined in rousing cheers as the train carrying the warriors put out.

The probable line-up for the game will be as follows:
Kuhlow, Smiley, In; Mohr, Atwood, It; Dalton, Jones, Ig; Cannon, Garbutt, C; Stewart, Hemming, rg; Cummings, rt; Connell (Capt.), O'Connor, re; J. Stewart, qb; Elder, lb; Falter, rh; Ryan, fb.

Enthusiasm Runs High. Enthusiasm has reached a high pitch at Oshkosh, according to last evening's Northwestern, which says: As a rule it is hard to work Oshkosh up to a point of enthusiasm, but once the town gets started there is no end of it.

Just now it is football, and apparently the city is on edge for the Thanksgiving day state championship football battle between Oshkosh and Janesville high schools. The latest proposition is a monster mass meeting that is to be held at the city hall from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tomorrow evening—the eve of the big game. Working under the sanction of Principal A. B. O'Neil and the city officials, prominent alumni have arranged a big time for the mass meeting—songs, speeches, school yells and possibly an address or two. The high school orchestra will be there in force.

Everybody is going, judging from the talk on the streets. The meeting will last only about half an hour and everything will be short and snappy. It will not cost a cent to get in, so nobody will have an excuse to stay away. There will be a city directory on hand, so that anybody found missing can easily be located.

The Oshkosh team and coaches will be at the meeting. The Janesville aggregation may not get in before Thursday morning, but if they arrive tomorrow they will be at the meeting. Speeches by the Oshkosh players and coaches are programmed, and for their special benefit everything will be short and sweet, so that the Blue and White gladiators may chase themselves to their pillows early.

Game at Two-thirty. Among other celebrities, Steve Hayes will be there. Steve is the sensation of the 1912 season as cheerleader, and as it will be his second appearance locally, Steve alone should draw a crowd with his new version of the rah-rah.

Prominent alumni and football stars of former years will be present, and some of them may be allowed to talk to the gathering. Following the example of the Eau Claire game two years ago, there is every reason to believe that the meeting will wind up in a parade from one end of Main street to the other.

There is but one restriction imposed on the meeting. All the enthusiasm that is desired may be let loose, but the city council expects that the crowd will be orderly and not go beyond bounds. In other words, don't break anything and don't make private property out of public property. The big game is to start at 2:30 o'clock. Shortly after noon the faithful rooters will congregate downtown and march to the park—more by way of stirring up enthusiasm than with any thought of opposing the street car company, however.

Anything that could be said regarding the conduct of the crowd at the game, or the attitude towards the visiting players, would be superfluous. The field will be properly policed, and it is up to Oshkosh to live up to its standing reputation of giving the visitors a square deal—and a beating. In the evening both the Oshkosh and Janesville elevens will be guests at the Thanksgiving hop at the Century.

Penn and Cornell Ready. Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—All preparations for the Cornell-Pennsylvania contest at Franklin Field tomorrow have been concluded and the Quaker city is looking forward to an interesting battle on the gridiron. No matter how much the two teams may differ in their season's records, the strong rivalry between Pennsylvania and Cornell can always be counted upon to attract an immense crowd of followers. The two have met in annual contests on the gridiron continuously since 1893. Of the nineteen games played Pennsylvania has won

7 and Cornell one. In 1906 a tie game was played.

Post-Office Hours for Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28th. Office will be opened from 8 A. M. to 9 A. M. Carriers will make their usual morning delivery. Rural Route service suspended for the day.

Dr. Hartman Recalls Cures Made By Old-Time Pe-ru-na

DR. B. B. HARTMAN.

I have been practicing medicine since 1855. Most of that time I have been using Pe-ru-na as my principal remedy. So many unexpected recoveries have been made by those for whom I have prescribed Pe-ru-na that it would take a large book to contain them all. They keep coming up to my mind one by one. Whether on my farm, or at home, whether playing with my grandchildren or conducting my large office business, these incidents of old-time Pe-ru-na cures steal in upon me memory unawares.

Take, for instance, a single case from the extensive list of similar cases in my diary of cases treated, as an example of the cures that Pe-ru-na used to make.

Mrs. T. S. Eberlein (then of Pittsburgh, Pa., afterwards of Keokuk, Iowa), during the year of 1882 began to develop usual symptoms of catarrh of the lungs. Cough was one of the first symptoms, which gradually grew worse in spite of all treatment. The sputa, at first slight, became abundant and purulent, occasionally streaked with blood. A rapid loss of flesh and flagging appetite filled her relatives with forebodings. The hectic flush, night sweats, and suppression of the menses, left no doubt as to the nature of her disease.

From the first physicians had been employed. Cough medicines, tonics, cod liver oil and stimulants were resorted to by her physicians without avail.

The first physician employed was Dr. Williams, Penn. Ave., Pittsburgh; Dr. Gilford, of Allegheny City, was next called; and then Dr. Riggs of Pittsburgh.

During this history of conflict with this terrible disease frequent consultations were held, but nothing checked the steady progress of her malady. Not a doubt had existed in the minds of her physicians or friends as to the nature of her disease, nor as to its fatal termination. The repeated examinations of her lungs indicated the rapid strides with which she was nearing the end.

Her physicians were honored members of the medical fraternity, in whom Mrs. Eberlein's husband and family had perfect confidence. And the sorrow with which they listened to their decision that they had exhausted everything known to them in vain for the relief of the wife and mother of the afflicted household can be better imagined than described. As is common to this sort of patients, Mrs. Eberlein continued hopeful long after her attendants believed her to be beyond cure.

I was practicing at the time in Pittsburgh, and a fancy that I would be able to relieve her was, during her illness, repeatedly expressed by Mrs. Eberlein, but it was regarded as the merest whim; and, as they were employing the best medical talent the city afforded, no attention was paid to it. At last she became so weak and emaciated that an attendant was constantly at hand to lift her during the terrible coughing spells to which she was subject, and which were frequently followed by alarming sinking spells, during which she was often thought to be dying. It was during one of these frightful paroxysms when her husband was supporting her tenderly and vainly trying to palliate her sufferings that she, again expressed her belief that if Dr. Hartman were sent for he could relieve her.

Willing to indulge her in any wish, as she was thought to be dying, by all, I was immediately sent for, but being very busy was not able to return until late in the evening of the afternoon on which she was sent for. It was not expected that she would survive until I could reach her home, but hope kept her alive until I came.

It would be difficult to imagine a more discouraging case for a doctor to undertake to cure than Mrs. Eberlein's at the moment of my first visit. Let me describe her symptoms. A drawn, pinched countenance, of a deathly pallor, and livid lips. Sunken, fixed, staring eyes; with a glassy brightness. Wasted in body to a mere shadow. Pulse wholly imperceptible at the wrist, but the heart feebly fluttering. Extremities cold and clammy, finger nails blue, breathing hurried and gasping, utterly exhausted and hopeless. It certainly seemed as if I had only arrived in time to see her die.

The first question of the distracted husband was: "Is my wife dying?" But my undaunted faith in the efficacy of Pe-ru-na is such even in this awful emergency, that I replied: "Sir, you and I are now in the vigor of life; it may happen that this lady will live to see us married."

After a hasty examination of the case I prescribed Pe-ru-na to be taken every hour, and it was not better in the morning to let me know.

It was two weeks before I again heard from the case, when the husband entered my office, radiant with joy, and, not waiting for the usual salutations, exclaimed:

"Doctor, my wife is well!"

"Oh, no; you mean she is better," I replied. But the enthusiastic husband insisted that his wife was "well and the heartiest eater at the table."

The fact was that, while she had made astonishing improvement, she was obliged to continue the use of Pe-ru-na many months. In less than a year she was entirely well, and has remained so since, and her treatment from the beginning to the end was Pe-ru-na and nothing else. To have seen her at the time of the first visit it would have been impossible to believe that any medicine or other earthly power could have saved her.

This case is no more unusual or astonishing than a great many others that my list contains, not only of diseases of the lungs, but of all mucous surfaces.

Cases of dyspepsia, diarrhoea and dysentery which have withstood all other treatment have yielded at once by the use of Pe-ru-na.

Numerous cases of Bright's disease of the kidneys, acute catarrh and rheumatism, female diseases, that had been treated locally for years, were instantly relieved and finally recovered by Pe-ru-na. In short, every disease affecting any mucous membrane of the body that has not already gone beyond all earthly help, frequently makes astonishing recovery.

As a general tonic and appetizer Pe-ru-na has no superior. It is a certain remedy for worn-out or tired human nature. Cases of nervous prostration, loss of vitality and sleeplessness are all treated by Pe-ru-na with such undeviating success, that wherever it is used it ranks as the greatest tonic known.

In future articles I will recite other cases of similar interest. In doing so I shall not allow the slightest exaggeration or fiction to mar the realism which the simple facts alone give to any narrative of this kind. It must be borne in mind, however, that the Pe-ru-na referred to in the above article is the old Pe-ru-na, now sold under the name of "Kastano." Should the druggist not happen to have it in stock he can obtain it of any wholesale druggist. If your druggist does not order it for you, write the Kastano Company, Columbus, Ohio. It will be sent prepaid. $1.00 a bottle; six bottles for $5.00, twelve bottles for $10.00.

THANKSGIVING
Let Your Dinner Be a Success

Nothing aids a heavy dinner like good beer—No table drink is so rich in "Diastase", the great active digester, as Buob's Beer. Cheap, newly made beer, lacks this valuable content—A guest table set with Buob's Beer will give you and your guests a comfortable feeling after eating. The alcohol (a tablespoonful in a large bottle) is merely an incident—a box of candy has as much, the chemists say.

Foreign Experts Praise Buob's Beer.

THANKSGIVING.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving, and all over the land, preparations have been made for an old-time observance of the day. The reuniting of families, and the gathering of friends around the well-filled board, are customs which have long been cherished, and they lose nothing in significance, by the passing of time.

There is something about this annual feast day that acts like a tonic,
and the blood which courses slowly,
and the step which has become faltering, because of the infirmities of age, responds to the spirit which the day inspires.

The grandmother is at her best on Thanksgiving day, and as the children sit about the table in the old home, they discover that the fingers, once so deft in service, have not forgotten their cunning, and that the smile which lights up the care-worn face is the old, familiar smile of other days.

The day we celebrate as a harvest festival belongs to the nation, and calls for gratitude for the many mercies which have crowned the year.
The universal peace, which we enjoy as a people, the bountiful harvest which has filled our bins with plenty,
and the many common blessings which we have appropriated, without appreciation, because they were so abundant.

It is well for us as a people, to turn aside, at least once a year, and reproduce the panorama, which brought so much to us in the passing, and remind ourselves of the oft-forgotten fact, that the hand which paints the pictures, and controls the settings, is the hand of an All-wise and ever present Father, the God of nations,
as well as of individuals.

But the significance of the day, in its closest relations, is in the home where the children gather and live over, for a brief period, the experiences of other years. And so, tomorrow, all over the land, the little family circles will be re-united, with here and there a vacancy as a sad reminder of life's uncertainties.

It should be a day of grateful remembrances, as well as of thanksgiving, for there are many homes in which it will require an effort to be thankful, unless some thoughtful heart and willing hand supplies the evidences for gratitude.

The abundance of the year, and its widespread distribution, makes it possible to fill the day with good cheer and every home in the land should share in its benefits. Let us do our part in contributing to happiness of humanity, that universal Thanksgiving may abound.

HOW IT WORKS.

While the playground proposition is before us, it may be helpful to know how the plan is working, where it has been tried. The following news story from La Crosse, is of interest:

"That the public playgrounds recently established in the city of La Crosse are responsible for a falling off in juvenile delinquency here which is undoubtedly remarkable, was the statement made by County Judge John Bridley and published in the La Crosse Tribune, who is preparing his annual report for the fiscal year in county circles which closed November 1.

"But one boy was brought before Judge Bridley during the entire summer vacation in the public and parochial schools this year, a period which extended from the middle of June until the second week in September. Considering the fact that it is during the summer months that the youths of the city have their minds and time unoccupied for the most part, the fact that, but one lad was taken before the court is regarded as exceptionally unusual for a city of over 30,000 persons. Not a single girl was haled into court during the vacation period for juvenile delinquency, although several were brought in and removed from the custody of parents in homes regarded as of a questionable character for the welfare of the young people.

Contrast is Evident.

Comparing the foregoing record for the past summer with that of a year ago, the contrast is at once seen.
During the same weeks in 1911, nineteen children, from 13 to 18 years of age, were arraigned before Judge Bridley for various offenses. Of this number sixteen were boys and three girls. In several instances it was found necessary to send the lads away to one of the state reform schools.

"While the record for the summer month shows a decrease of 1,900 per cent in the press of juvenile court cases, statistics for the entire year, will show a loss of 50 per cent in the same matter. County Judge Bridley had not proceeded far enough in his report to give out exact figures in the latter regard, but following a conference with Chief of Police John B. Webber he declared that the number of juvenile cases taken before him from Nov. 1, 1911, until Nov. 1, 1912, would be 50 per cent less than the year preceding.

Playgrounds Directly Responsible.

"I was surprised, upon looking up the records for the summer months," said the court, "to find that the decrease in the number of children who were delinquent during the past summer, as compared with the same period in 1911, was as great as it really is. I attribute this splendid showing practically entirely to the public playfields which were in operation in La Crosse for the first time during the summer now gone. As in every other city in which they have been tried out, these recreative spots for children, places at which their play directors, have more than demonstrated their usefulness to the city of La Crosse. Boys and girls who would otherwise be out upon the streets and in various ways engaging in mischief for mere want of something better to do, are now drawn to the playgrounds where they are carefully watched."

The verdict which acquitted Etlor and the men associated with him in the Lawrence strike trial for murder, may be generally approved by the people of the country, but the aftermath contains possibilities which are not so pleasant to contemplate.
Strikes which develop riots, result in the loss of property, and not infrequently, lives are sacrificed. If the verdict is construed as an endorsement of mob rule, this class of strikes will be more difficult to handle, because the respect for law has been weakened. If the men were guilty of inciting riot, some sort of punishment was needed, as an object lesson.

Andrew Carnegie at seventy-seven, seems to have lost none of his mental vigor. He is still interested in endowing something or somebody, and if the ex-presidents refuse his recent offer he will not be discouraged, but will look for another outlet. Better join the ranks of philanthropists, who help people by helping them to help themselves. A few factories to furnish employment to willing workers, is better than donations. The industrial world needs capital, more than heroes need medals, or ex-presidents, pensions.

The state of Illinois is trying to adjust itself to democratic conditions, and many deluded people are attempting to figure out how they made such fools of themselves. They followed the band, and shouted themselves hoarse, with nothing to show for but a democratic governor who will rattle around in the office like a last year's pea in a dry pod. The Chicago Tribune, which led the procession, has no consolation to offer.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.

With care the success which you long for will be yours. It is better to concentrate your attention on a few things than to attempt too many. If you are employed, be especially careful and just in your judgments.
Those born today will be talented but will work hard, where others would know how to serve themselves.
They will be restless, and will too often change from one occupation to another.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION
TELLS OF ITS LABORS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—Details of the enormous volume of work accomplished by the Wisconsin railroad commission are contained in a statement compiled by the commission and which will be embodied in the forthcoming annual report. From the organization of the commission in 1905 up to June 30, 1912, a total of 6,421 cases have been brought before it. Of these, 3,075 were formal railway cases and 3,346 were railway cases which came before the commission without formal application. There were 413 formal and 1,116 informal utility cases.

Three hundred thirty-nine of the cases before the commission relate to the issue of stock and bonds, and 64 involved the granting of certificates of convenience and necessity. Out of this total number, only 23 suits were instituted in the courts against the commission. A number of these have not yet been decided. During the last fiscal year the total number of cases coming before the commission was 1,087, or 384 more than in the preceding year. The greatest increase was in the number of formal railway cases which during this year reached a total of 281, as compared with a maximum therefore of 175 for the years 1908 and 1909. This gives an average during the year of more than 50 formal cases per month, and nearly as many of an informal nature.

The commission employs 95 engineers, statisticians, accountants, experts, stenographers and clerks. These care for the detail in investigating rates, aggregating as high as ten inquiries per day, the detailed inventories and valuations covering $380, 000,000 during the past year, the detailed transcripts of evidence furnished both parties to the complaint numbering 542 during the past year, continual supervision of service, the detailed checking of 1,181 financial and statistical reports. The stand-ardization of handling this enormous detail of work has been patterned by other commissions.

In acting for state shippers before the interstate commerce commission, the Wisconsin commission has made about $400,000,000 of detailed inventories and appraisals, has audited and approved 3,667 reports, and answered daily about 300 letters containing informal inquiries. The service inspection staff has made about 18,000 reports as to separate inspection.

THE LOCAL RETAIL MERCHANT

HE MAY HAVE HIS FAULTS, FOR HE IS HUMAN, BUT HE IS A USEFUL FACTOR IN THE COMMUNITY.

It is true that there are dishonest or inefficient merchants.
Also there are hypocritical preachers, biased judges, shyster lawyers, quack doctors, blackmailing newspaper publishers, and cheats among farmers, as well as dishonest clerks and shirking wage-earners.

But an indictment can not be laid against an entire class because certain members are so beset with human frailties as to be undesirable citizens.

The local merchant performs an important service to the community—many services, in fact.

First in importance is the accommodation he extends to his customers. He "carries" the wage-earner from pay day to pay day, and, in cases of sickness, loss of a job, or other misfortunes, he sometimes extends credit for an indefinite period.

He extends the same favor to all classes of citizens who have not conclusively demonstrated their unreliability or dishonesty.
This is equivalent to lending money without interest, something no man would ask except of a merchant or a warm personal friend, and in the latter case would consider it a favor if granted.

Also the local merchant pays taxes for the support of the local government, which means the support of the schools, improvement of the streets and bridges, fire protection, the support of the police department for the protection of life and property and the maintenance of the peace.

The local merchant contributes to the support of churches and to private and public charities. He is an employer of young men and women to whom he pays salaries; he contributes to the incomes of the physician, the dentist, the lawyer, the newspaper publisher, and all the various professional and business men who go to make up a live, enterprising, prosperous community.

He consumes farm products to the extent of his needs, thereby increasing the profits of the farmer—for the home market is the best market for farm products.

His capital is invested in the community; his interests center there; he is a part of the social, commercial, religious, and educational life of the town.

Then why is he not entitled to the consideration demanded by the farmer, the working man, and the other elements of the community that are always asking for "fair treatment?"

He at least should be given an opportunity to compare his goods and prices with those shown in the picture book of the catalogue houses before you send your money away from home to buy something he will sell as cheaply as you can get the same quality of goods for from the big city retail monopolists.

Men's Wants.

"Man wants but little here below—
An adage we have met.
But, still, we have not found it so.
For nearly all the men we know Want all that they can get.
"Man wants but little here below,"
Yet adds unto his store;
He loves to see his fortune grow;
It doesn't matter how much dough
He has, he longs for more.

Nowhere.

Where can I find,
O tell me right,
A woman's skirt
That's not too tight. —BUNK.

Where can I find,
In vain I've prayed,
A pumpkin pie
Like mother made?—H. T.

Where can I find
O, prithee tell,
A baby who Forgets to yell?—T. D. E.

And do not gossip
Just a bit?—OLD TIMER.

The Dark Brown Taste.

A young gentleman was out riding in his automobile with his lady friend near Bridgeport, Conn., the other evening. He turned and pressed a chaste salute upon the lips of his loved one and his car swerved and ripped down eight rods of rail fence.
It cost him $97 to have the car repaired. Moral: Don't kiss the wimmer.

One of the pleasant sensations of this life is to see a man who has owed you $40 for seven years drive by in an $1,800 automobile and burn up a gallon of oil right in front of your house so that the odor will in-ger in your vicinity for about a week.

There are a lot of little things about this world, but about the shiniest one is the one who borrows a dress suit and then sends it back without having it pressed.

It is getting so the men in this country don't amount to anything anymore. A woman in Missouri recently traded her husband for a sue, while a Los Angeles wife has instituted a suit for divorce against her husband because he doesn't keep her stockings darned. It is time for the men to rise and demand equal rights with women.

According to Uncle Abner.
There are a lot of little things about married life, that are unexpected.
Generally they are children.

A man who makes his wife believe one lie out of ten has a high batting average.

A man will laugh at a woman for her extravagance and then buy $1,40 for 35c worth of feed and buy a sea-gar for a quarter that contains about 7c worth of tobacco.

Always put off until tomorrow the feller who wants to do you today.

ASK DONATIONS FOR A SPECIAL CHARITY

Associated Charities Make Appeal for Contributions to Aid a Crippled Boy.

At a meeting of the Associated Charities at the city hall on Monday afternoon, with President Rev. Henry Willmann in the chair, important matters of business were considered, and it was decided to ask contributions for an especial case, that of a crippled boy, fifteen years of age, who has lived in this city all his life. The youth lost his limb in early childhood when he was pushed under the cars by companions, and is very anxious to learn a livelihood. His father is dead, and the boy is hampered by the loss of the limb and unable to purchase an artificial leg without assistance. It was therefore decided to make an appeal to all who are willing to help the youth. Contributions may be left with John G. Rexford at the First National Bank. It is desired that all who leave contributions there will state whether their gifts are for the special charity for the boy, or for general cases of charity.

OYSTER DINNER IS PLANNED AT ASYLUM

Special Thanksgiving Preparations Made at County Farm for Inmates of Asylum.

This was a busy day in the kitchen at the Rock county asylum for the inmates and at the noon house where the cooks were preparing a store of good things for the annual Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow. Kettles of cranberry sauce, sweet and tempting, stewing, luscious yellow pumpkin pies were being baked in the ovens as well as an array of cakes and other dainties.

An oyster dinner will be served to both the insane patients and the inmates of the poor house. It is an occasion looked forward to with almost childish anticipation on the part of the charges, for Thanksgiving is a day second only to Christmas. Apples and fruit will be passed around during the afternoon and a special effort will be made on the part of the attendants to make the day bright and cheerful. Many of the inmates will doubtless receive calls from friends and relatives.

At the county jail no extra preparations are made for the prisoners. By far the larger number of the men are serving terms for drunkenness or like offenses and are thought to be deserving of no more than the usual fare. Some of the prisoners, however, will be remembered by relatives or friends.

CARL H. KUECK, JR. SUMMONED BY DEATH

Passed Away at Home of His Father Early This Morning After Short Illness With Pneumonia.

Carl H. Kueck, Jr., aged thirty-one years, passed away at four o'clock this morning at the home of his father or Caroline street after being ill for nearly a week with pneumonia. He had not been in good health for a long time past, but for a while before he was taken sick with the illness that caused his death appeared to be getting stronger and more vigorous. Carl Kueck was born in Janesville, Jan. 13, 1881, and has always made his home here. He was a butcher by trade and worked in the market of his father a long time, and also in the Nash market. He was a member of the local Aerie of Eagles. Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kueck; three sisters, Mrs. C. W. Diehl, and the Misses Hattie and Abigail Kueck, all of this city; and two brothers, George F., of Janesville and Fred A. Kueck of Chicago. Funeral services will be held at the home at two o'clock Friday afternoon, the Rev. E. O. Hoffmeister, pastor of St. Peter's English Lutheran church, officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Nonie Scarfield MacLean.

Funeral rites for the late Mrs. Nonie Scarfield MacLean were conducted at the home in the Michaels apartment on Milton avenue at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. David Beaton, pastor of the First Congregational church. The pall bearers were Victor P. Richardson, Fred Capelle Albert E. Bligham, Robert Boswick and James Piffeld and Joseph Baker. Many beautiful flowers and tributes of friends of the departed to her revered memory were banded about the casket. The body was conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery where it was tenderly laid to rest.

James Lee

James Lee, aged seventy, passed away at two o'clock this morning, the cause of his death being the debility of old age. Mr. Lee was born in Ireland and came to the United States twenty-seven or eight years ago. He was never married. Surviving him are four nieces, and four nephews: Mrs. Joseph Litney, Mrs. J. B. Kaufman, Miss Nellie Lee, and Mrs. William P. Kennedy; Thomas J. and Edward Lee, and Edward and Bernard Farrington, all of this city. The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. J. B. Kaufman, 508 Chestnut street, at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, services being conducted at St. Patrick's church at ten o'clock. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Williams will be assisted in conducting the service by Dr. David Beaton and Dr. J. W. Laughlin, who will read the president's proclamation and offer the prayer. Music for the service will be furnished by the Baptist quartette.

Decorations for the church will be in keeping with Thanksgiving, consisting of grain, fruits and flowers. A free will offering will be taken for the Associated Charities.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

To Sing in Concert: Mrs. Zoe Pearl Park, former conductor of music at the First Congregational church in this city will take part in a concert to be given at the Fine Arts theatre, Chicago, by the faculty of the Mary Wood School of Music on Thanksgiving night. Mr. George Browster who sang a tenor part in the "Holy City" given by the Congregational church to the choir shortly before Mrs. Park left, will also take part in the concert.

Answers To Inquiries: The last of a series of answers to inquiries on smoke ordinances was received yesterday by City Clerk Hammarlund from the city clerk at Kenosha. That city has no ordinance but is endeavoring to draw one up that will be satisfactory. An inquiry as to smoke ordinances was received yesterday from Portland, Maine. City Clerk Hammarlund will soon send inquiries to Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit and other large cities for information on the same question.

New Paper Files: New files of papers of the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Chicago Record Herald are being kept at the Janesville Public Library at the instructions of Miss Gertrude Cobb, librarian. The files have been started as an experiment, but if they are not used by the public, will be discontinued. Bound files of the local papers are kept.

Gave Church Concert: Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Weber, Mrs. W. C. Gagan, Mrs. A. D. Chatelle and J. H. Burns motored to Evansville last evening and gave a concert at St. Paul's Catholic church.

Ask Prompt Payment: The Sisters of Mercy request payment of all subscriptions to the hospital fund this week if possible.

Murray and Murphy: James Murray and George Murphy were the only men brought into the municipal court this morning on a charge of intoxication. Murphy, who was arraigned on a similar charge two days ago and paid a fine of $3 and costs this time was unable to pay the fine of $3 and costs imposed and was sent to jail for fifteen days. Murray could not pay a fine of $3 and costs and was sentenced to eight days imprisonment.

E. F. U.: Regular meeting of Janesville Assembly No. 171, E. F. U., this evening. Card party and prizes. All members are requested to be present.

Jury To Evansville: A short recess was taken in the Baird vs. Carle case in the circuit court this morning for the purpose of drawing a jury in a case involving the condemnation of real estate in Evansville for use as a highway concerning which there is no controversy. The jurors summoned by the sheriff, E. H. Ransom, left for Evansville this morning to view the property.

Thanksgiving Service: Thanksgiving day services will be held at St. Peter's English Lutheran church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The sermon will be given by the Rev. William Eckert, general secretary of the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary at Maywood, Ill.

Offices Closed: Offices at the court house will be closed tomorrow and there will be no session of the circuit court owing to the fact that it is a legal holiday.

Was Never Troublesome: Information from the sheriff's office today emphatically contradicts a story current to the effect that Hugh Waggoner offered resistance to attendants at the county jail where he is serving a sentence. Waggoner has at all times been gentlemanly in his conduct in the jail, it is stated.

GIVE INSTRUCTIONS AS TO TAX RECEIPTS

State Tax Commission Explains Matter of Personal Property and Income Tax Receipts.

Tax collectors in Wisconsin must not write the receipt issued for personal property tax, but are required to use separate forms for each one for personal property and another for income, according to instructions issued today by the state tax commission.

The commission further instructs collectors that when a person assessed for income tax in one district has paid personal property tax in another district, the personal property tax of one must not be taken in payment of income tax in the other.

The following instructions have been issued by the tax commission.

The income tax is payable to the town, city and village treasurers at the same time and place as the property tax.

When the income tax and the personal property tax are both assessed in the same district and the taxpayer is not assessed for income tax in any other district, the taxpayer will simply pay the larger tax and obtain receipts, one for personal property and one for income tax.

If the taxpayer wishes to use a personal tax receipt issued in one district to offset income tax assessed in another district, the following procedure should be observed:

1. Secure a separate personal property tax receipt and have the treasurer endorse on it the amount used to offset income tax in that district.
2. Present or mail this personal receipt to the Assessor of Incomes of the county in which it was issued and apply for Special Offset Receipts covering the balance of personal property tax. In Milwaukee city apply to Income Tax Teller, City Treasurer's Office.
3. This application should state the amount desired for offset in each other district in which the taxpayer has income tax to pay, giving the correct name of such district and the county in which situated.
4. Offset receipts for balance of personal property tax will be issued with coupons, which coupons will be accepted only for the amount entered upon them and in the district for which they are issued.
5. The taxpayer should pay his personal property taxes in time to secure special coupon receipts from the Assessor of Incomes, and forward them to the local treasurer against whom they are issued. Penalties are imposed if the taxes are not paid on or before January 31, 1913.
6. Ordinary personal property tax receipts will not be received in offset in districts other than that in which issued.
7. The exact name is important. For instance a firm cannot use its personal property tax receipt to offset the income tax of its members.
8. It is a common practice to write a personal property tax receipt at the bottom of the real estate receipt. Taxpayers should therefore request a separate personal tax receipt whenever they wish to use the latter to secure the special offset receipts mentioned above.

ANOTHER UNLOADED RIFLE CLAIMS NEW VICTIM.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Playing "hold-up" with a small rifle thought to be unloaded resulted in the death of a five-year old Edward Renner today. The little boy was visiting his aunt in West 15th street and his 13-year-old uncle pointed the rifle at him in play and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the child's neck and he bled to death.

INTEREST IN REVIVAL SERVICES CONTINUES

Much Interest Shown in Evangelical Services at the United Brethren Church.

The revival services at the United Brethren church continue with good interest. The evangelist, Rev. J. Walter Gibson, preached one of the most powerful sermons since he has been in the city when he spoke of the subject, "Uncovered at Last," at the services last evening. The services will be continued every evening this week except Saturday evening. The subject for this evening will be, "Delivered from the Darkest Dungeon." On Thursday morning there will be a Thanksgiving service at half past ten o'clock. The evangelist will preach the sermon.

LEYDEN ASSAULT CASE IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Alva Tracy Pleads Guilty to Striking William Conway And is Fined $10 And Costs.

As the result of a saloon row in Leyden last Saturday, Alva Tracy of that village was brought before Judge Fifield late yesterday afternoon to answer to a charge of assault and battery preferred by William Conway. There was considerable dispute as to just what took place but finally Tracy consented to plead guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs amounting to $4.50. Conway, who is a younger man than Tracy, declared that the latter hit him in the face several times, but this is denied by Tracy. Conway did not appear in court but was represented by Attorney J. J. Cunningham.

"A MODERN EVE."

Mort H. Singer, the Chicago theatrical producer, has secured the best musical talent in the world. The two foremost composers of Berlin, where the art of light opera has reached its highest development, are contributing to entertainments which bear the Singer name this season. They are Victor Hollander and Jean Gilbert, whose

"Eve", Gilbert is represented by the waltz "Goodbye, Everybody", which is the song hit of the year, and "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight", an entrancing love-song. Walizes are Gilbert's specialty, and in this form of composition, he has already surpassed Franz Lehar, as far as popularity in the Fatherland is concerned. One other of Jean Gilbert's musical comedies will be seen in America this season "The Autolobehon" (Auto

ory while life lasts. It deals with types and conditions along the banks of Lake Cayuga, near Ithaca, New York, and tells of the love of the daughter of one of the fishing class that live along the lake shore. She does not love a man of her own class, but a man of aristocratic traditions, far above her socially. The fame of this great play is well merited, for it is a most impressive dramatization of one of the most brilliant stories ever written. Out of the best of all dramatic novels has been evolved the greatest of dramas, and both story and play have achieved a popularity unparalleled in extent and vitality. It is a play for all names are linked together on the program of "A Modern Eve". The Chicago run of this attraction has established it as the greatest musical comedy success of the decade.

Victor Hollander was brought from Berlin by Mr. Singer last Spring, under special contract which guaranteed him weekly royalties far in excess of those he had been receiving in Germany. Hollander has been the most attractive and successful composer of light music in the German capital. He has reigned supreme at the Metropolitan Theatre where the best musical comedies of Berlin are staged and has written so many scores that he finds it hard to remember all their titles at one setting. The incidental music to "Sumurun" and "San-Lin" the latter a grand opera recently produced in London, are also among his works.

In "A Modern Eve", Hollander received his first commission from Mr. Singer, and it has proved so successful that he has taken up permanent residence in this country. Of the many melodious numbers which he has contributed to this musical comedy, "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love" stands out as the best ballad heard in this country in years.

Jean Gilbert is the most brilliant member of younger Berlin composers, as Hollander was, until he foresook Berlin for America. In "A Modern Maid". This operetta will be produced by Mort H. Singer within the next two months and it is expected to equal the Chicago record of "A Modern Eve". Gilbert will come to America when Autolobehon is staged under Mr. Singer's auspices, and under the same guarantee which was given Hollander.

"A Modern Eve" will be presented at Myers theatre Wednesday evening November 27.

"TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY."

"Tess of the Storm Country," Jones and Crane's dramatic play of sentiment in which humor and pathos are combined and heart interest and thrilling realism are brought together, is to be the attraction at the Myers Theatre, Thursday, Nov. 28, Thanksgiving, matinee and evening. The story of Grace Miller White's famous novel has been carefully followed by Mr. Robert Hughes, who dramatized the book and made a most beautiful play out of this world renowned story. The play has to do with the awakening to love of two souls, the man believes the worst of the girl on account of her taking the blame of another man's sins. It is a love story, not the conventional love story of the stage, but the deep human passions that take hold of each man or woman once in his or her life, and even though unhappy, lingers in the memories and people of all ages. Miss Marguerite Leasure's portrayal of the role of "Tess" is declared to be a work of art. The scenic investiture is all that could be desired, and excellent acting make the attraction a huge success.

GO TWENTY THOUSAND MILES ON HORSEBACK

Quartet of Western Overlanders Visited Janesville This Morning on Their Journey.

Twenty thousand miles on horseback, the longest trip of its kind ever undertaken, requiring nearly three years for its completion, is the task set by the Overland West-ern quartet from the state of Washington, visiting Janesville today. They came here from Madison where they stopped Monday last.

The members of the party are Charles C. Beck, aged 45; George W. Back, 37; J. B. Ransom, 40; and L. G. Rayne, 21, all typical western horsemen, men of boot and spur, who have undertaken the three-year horseback journey to visit the capital of every state in the union, interview the governor of each when possible, and carry each executive a message from the last one interviewed.

The men started from Olympia, Washington, carrying a message from Governor Hay of Washington to Governor Hawley of Iowa. They arrived in Madison yesterday bearing a taken from Governor Elberhardt of Minnesota to Governor McFarland. Already they have visited the capital cities of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota and from here they go to Illinois.

While the journey is one largely for the purpose of satisfying the spirit of the wanderer it has a practical end, that of demonstrating the endurance of the western horse. Besides their regular mounts, which they expect to exchange from time to time as necessity may require, they have a fifth horse that carries the outfit of the company. This horse, Pinto by name, is expected to make to entire trip of 20,000 miles and arrive in San Francisco in time for the Pacific-Panama exposition in 1915. Pinto is a typical western horse, sound from nose to tail and enjoys the novelty of his task greatly although he came near drowning while crossing the Powder river in Montana, the water being high and the horse overloaded. The riders managed to tow him to shore, however, and now he apparently recalls the incident as one of the interesting experiences of the journey.

Mr. Charles Beck, spokesman for the quartet, said that the party was the first to cross the Santa Ann pass over the Cascade, 8,000 feet above the sea. At that altitude they were snowbound a week and it took them 25 hours finally to get below the snowline.

The men all are keen, intelligent fellows, enthusiastic in their mission which they treat seriously as one of more than passing interest. They keep a careful record of all the important incidents of the trip and will write a book to be placed on sale at the Pacific-Panama exposition.

Embarrassment of Riches. "Wealth doesn't always bring happiness," remarked the youngster with the large spectacles. "Now," asserted the other kid. "Look at me cousin yonder. He's got two cents and he can't decide between lollipops and ice cream."—Pittsburg Post.

POSTMASTER SEEKS PARCELS POST DATA

Will Send Circulars to Business Men of the City to Secure Figures for Establishment of System.

Postmaster C. L. Valentine of this city will, within a few days, send out to the various factories and business enterprises of this city, circulars asking for information which will be of use to him in making preparations for the establishment of the parcels post service in Janesville. The parcels post law goes into effect the first of next year, but before it is established, it is desired to get information with regard to the amount of fourth-class mail sent out daily by the various business houses, and the amount they will send out, when the law becomes effective. The purpose of the circular is to get information so as to be able to estimate just how much equipment will be needed for establishing the service. It is requested that the answers to the circulars be made before the third of December. The parcels post will reduce the rates of fourth class postage, and will give service for packages weighing up to eleven pounds between city and rural districts in all parts of the country. Parcels may be insured for an amount equivalent to their actual value, not to exceed twenty-five dollars, upon the payment of five cents, and rural mail carriers will be provided with maps so as to be prepared to accept such packages. The country has been divided into different zones, and fixed rates for certain weights have been established from one to eleven pounds.

No. Use for Rubbers

Whether it rains or the Streets are slushy, you can always be sure that Dr. A. Reed Shoes will keep your feet warm and dry—without rubbers.

Other shoes won't do that—but Dr. A. Reed Shoes have a special insole—a soft fibre cushion that is chill-proof and damp-proof. Moisture simply can't come up through the sole.

And you'll enjoy walking whatever the weather is, for the cushion insole spreads your weight so evenly over your foot that it's just like "walking on air." No other shoes are half so comfortable—half so restful to your feet. And if you'll give us a chance today—tomorrow—anytime, we'll show you how to do away not only with rubbers, but with tired, aching, burning feet as well.

Silverthorne Families Entertained at Home of Dr. F. W. Lacey in Honor of Guests.

Footville, Nov. 27.—Members of the Silverthorne families were pleasantly entertained today at the home of Dr. F. W. Lacey, a picnic dinner being given in honor of their guests Frank Dibble and Mrs. Carl Bashfield of Mason, Mich., the cousins of the Silverthornes. A very pleasant afternoon was spent by all present.

No Good Thing is Ever Lost.
Remember that truth, the most important and encouraging of all truths. Your life may not seem worth while, the sacrifices that you make for others may not seem worth while. But no good thing is ever lost. And he who does his duty contributes forever to the sum total of that which is good in the universe.

Evil in the Betel Nut.
About one-tenth of the human race are betel nut chewers. The nut stains the lips and saliva a bright red, colors the teeth black and in the end destroys them.

Today's Evansville News

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Nov. 27.—Fifty-five local men enjoyed a pleasant stay supper and delightful social evening at the M. E. church parlors last night. The affair was a wholly informal one being given by a number of interested Methodist men to secure charter members for a local Brotherhood Association. The music was furnished by Holmes' four-piece orchestra which certainly did itself proud on this occasion and deserves more than passing mention. Two addresses were then given by members of the Brotherhood of Cargill M. E. church, Janesville. One by Mr. George Jacobs on "The spirit and purpose of brotherhood." The other was by Mr. Horace Blackie on "The work a brotherhood can do."

After another especially good selection by Holmes' orchestra and the serving of the supper, the men took up the business of the evening. Forty-seven signed as charter members for the new organization. Another informal gathering will be held the coming week for the purpose of organization.

MAY ATTEND MEETING OF ROADS CONGRESS

Supt. of Streets C. K. Millmore May Accept Invitation to Attend Road Builders' Convention.

Superintendent of Streets C. K. Millmore may accept the invitation tendered him to attend the annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association and Good Roads Congress to be held at Cincinnati, Ohio, December 3 to 6.

The invitation comes from E. L. Powers, secretary of the association, and editor of "Good Roads." The state highway department of all the leading states will make exhibits there, as will also the United States Office of Public Roads, at least three or four of the leading engineering colleges and a number of the larger cities. Included in the exhibits will be everything in the line of road building and street paving machinery, materials, and appliances such as road rollers, traction engines, paving plants, dump wagons, rock crushers, culverts, bitumen, cement, brick, and wood blocks.

Flagged Train With Shirt.
Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price, 50 cents at People's Drug Co.

A GOOD COUGH CURE
Do you remember the good old cough cure mother used to have? It didn't taste like cherry pie but it did cure a cough in a hurry. Mr. Pfeiffer, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, makes our cough balsam by percolation direct from the roots, barks and balsams of wild cherry, bloodroot, Lobelia, white pine bark, thereby obtaining the full medicinal virtue and strength of each drug, making it into a syrup we call Badger Cough Balsam. It is made after an old prescription which is today the best cure for any cough, a bronchial or lung trouble, healing and soothing to the irritated throat and lungs, it cures by assisting to expell the phlegm from the lungs, not by dosing the system with morphine and chloroform as do the modern patent cough remedies, deadening the nervous system, emptying the lungs into retaining the mucus, thereby bringing on possible pneumonia and pleurisy. Badger Cough Balsam is a trustworthy expectorant, it loosens up and expells the phlegm. Get a bottle today for yourself or the children. It's safe to use, 25c. WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ON BEING LATE.

THEY say time is money, and yet how many people who are thoroughly scrupulous about other people's money are equally unscrupulous about their own time!

Such folks would be horrified at the thought of taking a single penny out of a pocketbook entrusted to them, and yet, when a friend entrusts his time pocketbook to such a one by making an appointment with him, the time thief thinks that making off with a large sum of time is a mere peccadillo to be wiped off the slate with an excuse or two.

The other day I was waiting for a friend in the doorway of one of the large stores in the city near which I live. A woman was standing near me who had evidently been waiting for someone a long time and was rather impatient. Finally a young girl came sauntering along as if she had all the time in the world. The older woman called her attention to the fact that it was long past the time at which she had promised to meet her, and the young girl answered, "Oh, what time is it? Am I very late?" I did not hear any more because they walked away, but what I did hear showed that the girl had not considered the keeping of her appointment important enough to even keep track of the time.

A young man told me a short time ago that the only fault he had to find with the young lady to whom he is engaged is that she is never on time. A while ago they were going to the opera and as usual she was late. Consequently, they missed the first act, the young man was out of sorts and showed it, she resented his crossness and before the evening was over she was in tears and the pleasure of the opera was spoiled for both of them. This is but one example of the sort of things that are continually happening. Comic papers make a joke of this fault on the part of women, but it has caused this man so much trouble that he is really disturbed about it and considers it a serious defect in character.

My aunt told the other night of a recent experience of hers. She has a friend for whom she always has to wait from fifteen minutes to half an hour, and a short time ago she waited a whole hour, and then, as the friend did not show up, she went home without meeting her. Shortly afterwards the friend called her up on the telephone and asked her why she did not meet her. My aunt replied that she had waited an hour and that that was the last time she would ever make an appointment with her. The consequence is that a friendship of long standing has been practically broken up by this careless habit.

Of course, there are many times when the breaking of an appointment cannot be helped, or when being late for an appointment is unavoidable, and I think people should always be given a chance to explain. But it seems to me that a regular habit of stealing other people's time in this way shows a lack of sense of honor and is utterly inexcusable.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

IN planning menus, recipes for Thanksgiving, or any day, do not plan too much, while one of the chief aims of the art of good cooking is variety, it should not all center around, nor in, one meal.

Dishes should not be simply excellent without regard to the contrast they bear to one another, but variety is required, not only in the material, but also in the style of dressing and in the accompanying sauce and garnishes.

Light and dark dishes should be as far as possible served each other. The same sauce should not appear twice, nor two creamed dishes on the same menu. Several sorts of pastry should be avoided and when cold dishes form part of the menu they should be interspersed with care among the others. Do not be ashamed to follow a recipe; many people boast that they never follow a recipe, their "bad luck days" come, which really means inaccuracy in the recipe or not following it.

Edible foods should only be used in garnishing. A little bit of green or touch of color is good if one has some sense of arrangement and form; a circle of parsley always shows a dish is monotonous and shows very little artistic sense. Study the dish made, and give it just the necessary touch of garnish, whether it be of green, red or yellow.

Materials—Granulated gelatine, one-half box; cold water, one-half cup; tomatoes, one-half can; celery, one slice; salt, one teaspoonful; lemon juice, one tablespoonful; tarragon vinegar, one tablespoonful; paprika, one-half teaspoonful, mayonnaise.

Directions—Cover the gelatine with a half cup of cold water; soak until soft. Put in a sauce pan, tomatoes, celery, bay leaf and onion. Bring to the boiling point, and simmer gently fifteen minutes. Add the gelatine and strain through a fine sieve; put into this lemon juice, tarragon vinegar and paprika. Turn into a mold or molds and stand aside to harden. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing.

This may be molded in a ring mold and the center filled with apples and celery with mayonnaise for a supper or luncheon salad.

Materials—Shortening, one and a half tablespoonfuls; sugar, one cup; milk, one cup; pastry flour, two cups; salt, one and one-quarter teaspoonfuls; cinnamon, one-quarter teaspoonful; nutmeg, one-quarter teaspoonful; fat for frying.

Utensils—Deep kettle, measuring cup, measuring spoon, tablespoon, flour sifter, mixing bowl, wooden spoon, egg beater.

Directions—Beat the eggs without separating, add milk, salt, sugar and the melted shortening, which may be butter or any melted fat. Put all of the remaining dry ingredients into the flour after and add to the liquid mixture.

Add more flour if necessary to make a soft dough. Roll one-quarter inch thick, cut and fry in hot fat. Fat may be used but the vegetable fats are more easily digested, wholesome and just as economical.

Materials—Spaghetti, one-half pound; cheese, one-half pound; tomatoes, one-half can; one onion, one tablespoon flour, two slices bacon, salt, paprika, bread crumbs.

Utensils—Kettle, sharp knife, tablespoon, colander, spider, baking pan.

Have at least two quarts of boiling hot water and one teaspoonful of salt in the kettle.

Add the spaghetti without breaking. Boil until white and tender, about twenty minutes. Turn into a colander or sieve and let cold water run over it. Cut the bacon in tiny pieces and put into the spider to fry, add the onion sliced very thin.

When the fat is out and the pieces

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your hair! Danderine destroys dandruff and stops falling hair at Once—Grows Hair, we prove it—Absolutely Harmless

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub ruins the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flanch, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine. It any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually why not now! A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

The Kitchen Cabinet

LET us not use the microscope on our troubles. To magnify and seek out all the details of our trials is to become more and more miserable.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE.

The keeping of lemons in the household is a problem to many. Some advocate dropping them in water and renewing the water once a week; but the plan of packing them, stem end down in sand, just as one does eggs, keeping them from touching each other, is the best one yet. They will keep for months, provided they are not softening when put into the sand.

A supply of lemons is a great convenience, and even the waste of two or three is quite an item in the course of many buyings.

Save the old newspapers, and when sweeping day comes if not fortunate enough to have a vacuum cleaner, wet the paper, tear in small pieces and sprinkle over the floor, before sweeping. The paper holds the dust and keeps it from flying about.

Save bits of soap, toilet and washing soap separately, and when a sufficient amount of pieces are gathered, cover with water in a sauce pan and stand on the stove to melt. When melted, pour into molds and have a new cake of soap.

Old gas mantles make good silver polish, used with a damp cloth.

Ice cream that is melted may be used for various dishes if not wanted to re-freeze. It may be used in cake, leaving out the milk and using less sugar.

Melted chocolate ice cream, to which is added a little gelatine and a few chopped nuts, makes a delicious dessert.

Rice water should never be thrown away, as it is highly nutritious. It may be used as a foundation for soups, is a fine drink for an invalid, with the addition of lemon juice, and sugar, either hot or cold. Some housekeepers use it for stiffening old lace.

Save paper bags for slipping over the lamp chimneys, to keep them clean. Use the bag as a mitten when blacking the stove. It keeps the hands from getting soiled, and saves many bruises.

Wrap cheese in a cloth dampened in vinegar to keep it from molding.

If a whole cheese is cut, it may be covered with melted paraffin and well wrapped, or the cut surface may be spread with butter to keep it from drying out.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By Dr. T. J. Allen Food Specialist

DISEASE INDUCED BY FEAR OF IT.

A reader asks whether I agree with Dr. E., who says that "your advice to think of other things than disease is excellent, but you are mistaken in saying that to think of consumption will cause it. Thinking consumption never made trains collide. Thinking consumption never made consumption." It is quite true, as Dr. E. suggests, that it is best to think of other things than disease, but there is now sufficient evidence to show that the fear of a disease will actually cause it in many cases. The best scientific definition of disease that has been given is, "the sum of abnormal cell activity." Mental states largely control cell activity, and the attitude of mind has much to do in determining disease as well as health. The rule must work both ways. The means of preserving health by right thinking—by thinking health instead of disease—is now well understood; but it is not so well understood that disease may be caused by wrong thinking. Every physician should know that the books give many cases of diseases apparently induced by the fear of them, and many specialists have died of the disease to which they have devoted their lives—as the recent examples of Dr. William T. Bull, famous cancer specialist, and Dr. Mayo, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, indicate. Those who say that we need to pay no attention to physical conditions, so long as we keep the mental attitude right, are no more wrong than those who, like Dr. E., advise to attend to physical conditions, and pay no attention to the mental attitude. Make the best possible provision for compliance with the physical laws of health, but think health, not disease.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a girl of 19 and engaged to a man 12 years my senior, whom I love. Is there too much difference in our ages? (2)—He respects me in every way and seems to love me and wants to have a home ready for me when we are married, so we set the day about a year from now. Is our engagement too long? (3)—I am staying at home. Papa's father is there too. He insists on kissing me and that is not all. He also insists on fooling around. Shall I tell my parents or what shall I do?

BLUE EYED MARION.

(1)—If you love each other sincerely, you ought to be happy in spite of the years between you. (2)—You will be at a better age for marriage a year from now. But don't wait any longer.

(3)—Keep out of his way. He is probably just a childish old man. But if he is too troublesome or becomes dangerous, tell your father it will be best for you to live somewhere else until you are married, unless he can put the man in some other place.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am 16 years of age and have some serious faults. (1) I would appreciate your help. (2) What can I do to cure my temper and outspokenness? They have been the cause of many unhappy hours. My temper is aroused very easily. (3) I am easily teased. Is there any remedy for that? (4) My complexion is dark and my face has a sort of yellow color. Is there much harm in my using powder?

I have a lot of freckles during the summer? (5) I am called and considered an "old maid" by the girls and boys of our neighborhood, because I do not attend any of the parties where I am invited because I don't like "kissing games." Also, I consider myself too young to have gentlemen callers and don't make "dates." I do speak with all the young men I know when I meet them, but they think I am stuck up.

OLD MAID.

(1) Make a bet with yourself that you won't get out of temper or say an unkind word, the next time. Make the bet something you don't want to do or something you don't want to give up. Then, if you lose, force yourself to pay it. It will make you remember better next time. (2) Just laugh, and people will soon stop teasing you.

(3) Don't use powder at your age, my dear. A young girl's fresh clean skin is the prettiest thing in the world. Drink a good deal of milk, eat plenty of fruits and vegetables, and your skin will lose the yellowish tint. Add dress in becoming colors, tan, reddish brown, shades of yellow and red, which will harmonize with your complexion.

(4) Bathe your face in buttermilk quite often. It will not keep the freckles entirely away but they will not be noticed so much.

(5) You are a very sensible girl and some day you will make a splendid wife for the right man. Be friendly with the boys but don't be cheap. You need not be "stuck up"—just be good and sweet and modest, with a pleasant smile and kind words for everybody.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

The Wife of a Hypocrite

HOW would you like to be the wife of Brother Hopkins?" asked the frank girl.

The little group of friends had just left a meeting where the principal speaker had been the aforesaid Hopkins.

"I don't mean to bring up a personal discussion of Sister Hopkins," went on the frank girl. "For that matter, there may be no Sister Hopkins. But what I do mean is, how would you like to be the wife of a hypocrite? We all know Brother Hopkins is a hypocrite, and we all were sitting there smiling cynically to ourselves, as he rhapsodized on brotherhood, and consideration for others, and such things. Everybody knows his life gives the lie to every word he said. And I just wondered how one would feel to be the wife of such a man, to have to sit and listen to him, knowing all the time the real man he is. Job says, 'The joy of a hypocrite is but for a moment.' But it seems to me the shame of his wife would be for a lifetime. I certainly wouldn't want to be in her shoes, would you?"

"It would make me a cynic, if I were," said one of the group.

"Or patience on a monument smiling at grief," said another.

"It wouldn't me," declared a third emphatically. "It would make me a divorcee! A man doesn't have to be a hypocrite. It's done deliberately, and with malice aforethought, so to speak. And those who acquiesce in his conduct are accessory to the crime."

"I suppose some of these remedies might help the tension for the one who was his wife," said the Optimist. "But how about him? I think if I were his wife, I would just pleasantly and smilingly and as if his conduct were a huge joke, which every one saw through, expose him. When he was getting off some of his fine sentiments about consideration for others, I'd say right before a crowd of friends, 'But Tom, dear, don't you remember how you discharged Old Wilkins without a moment's notice, because you said he was too old for the job? He came to his work in the morning, you know, and found some one else at his desk.' Then I would say to just let him down a little easy, 'It isn't always possible to carry out one's good intentions, though I always thought Wilkins might have been given notice.' And I'd just go right on picking every one of these beautiful bubbles he blows to distract the gaze of the public from the real things he does. He'd be mad; but he'd have to stop just the same. There'd be nothing in it. He couldn't even fool himself that he was fooling the public. I'd be on hand every time, smilingly and pleasantly handing out the real facts."

"I wonder what there would be left of him?" asked one.

"Only a little scrap of flesh and bone with nothing about it that resembled a man," replied another.

"Oh, I don't know," said the Optimist. "If you exposed him in the right way, that is, with the right spirit for the motive, you might start a spark of manhood somewhere in him that would grow to something really fine. There's thought and feeling of a kind, the wrong kind to be sure, back of all this hypocrisy. You've not got a phlegmatic, or apathetic, or commonplace man to deal with. And when you continually hold up to him the other side of the mirror, you might swing this thought and feeling around after a while to working in the right way."

"A pretty big undertaking," said one.

"Yes, but better than writhing inwardly at the thought of his lies and deception, or becoming cold and hard and bitter."

"Or terribly meek," said the one who would head for the divorce court.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a girl of 19 and engaged to a man 12 years my senior, whom I love. Is there too much difference in our ages? (2)—He respects me in every way and seems to love me and wants to have a home ready for me when we are married, so we set the day about a year from now. Is our engagement too long? (3)—I am staying at home. Papa's father is there too. He insists on kissing me and that is not all. He also insists on fooling around. Shall I tell my parents or what shall I do?

BLUE EYED MARION.

(1)—If you love each other sincerely, you ought to be happy in spite of the years between you. (2)—You will be at a better age for marriage a year from now. But don't wait any longer.

(3)—Keep out of his way. He is probably just a childish old man. But if he is too troublesome or becomes dangerous, tell your father it will be best for you to live somewhere else until you are married, unless he can put the man in some other place.

OLD MAID.

(1) Make a bet with yourself that you won't get out of temper or say an unkind word, the next time. Make the bet something you don't want to do or something you don't want to give up. Then, if you lose, force yourself to pay it. It will make you remember better next time. (2) Just laugh, and people will soon stop teasing you.

(3) Don't use powder at your age, my dear. A young girl's fresh clean skin is the prettiest thing in the world. Drink a good deal of milk, eat plenty of fruits and vegetables, and your skin will lose the yellowish tint. Add dress in becoming colors, tan, reddish brown, shades of yellow and red, which will harmonize with your complexion.

(4) Bathe your face in buttermilk quite often. It will not keep the freckles entirely away but they will not be noticed so much.

(5) You are a very sensible girl and some day you will make a splendid wife for the right man. Be friendly with the boys but don't be cheap. You need not be "stuck up"—just be good and sweet and modest, with a pleasant smile and kind words for everybody.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing.
To fasten cover on ironing board, use thumb tacks. They keep the cover down firm and are fastened and removed much quicker than any other way. When thumb tacks are not in use, keep them in a cork, where they will always stay till ready for use.

If ink becomes thick in bottom of bottle, add strong tea, shake bottle well and ink is as good as new.

If suffering from neuralgia of the head, placing a mustard plaster on the back of the neck will give relief; or, if neuralgia is in the face, placing one on the elbow will relieve.

For Women Travelers—Get 1 1/2 yards thin black china silk three-fourths yard wide. Sew together to form a bag and run a hem casing in top through which cord or ribbon may be run. In this you may place hat, veil, gloves, etc., where they will be free from dust and, by the drawingstring, hang up out of the way. When you are at your journey's end fold up bag and tuck it away in handbag, where it takes up very little room.

The Hour Glass.
The hour glass does not keep perfect time for the reason that in hot weather the glass expands, thus making the neck larger and allowing the sand to run faster.

Wake Up! You Lazy Stomach!

Make Your Stomach Cheerfully Do Its Work—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Your Food and Assist the Stomach.

People who complain they are worn to a frazzle are nearly always dyspeptic and are recommended to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The stomach gets lazy, food ferments and sours, gas belches up, there are symptoms of bloating, the blood becomes thin and sluggish, the liver is blamed, the head is heavy, the mind a blank and the dining room is a chamber of horrors.

One of the greatest evils of our modern life is the quick lunch. To this evil, as much or more, than any other, may be traced the preponderance of the stomach troubles of our times. Instead of taking time to thoroughly masticate the food before swallowing it, the average person rushes through the meal, bolting the food, deglutition taking place while it is only partially mixed with saliva, and only half masticated, thus leaving the stomach to do the work the teeth should have done.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain digestive elements, a single grain being capable of digesting 8,000 grains of food, including meats, eggs, grain, vegetables, starches and mineral matters. They prepare every particle of food by thorough digestion for ready absorption and assimilation by the lactated glands, which pass it into the blood, whence it is conducted to all parts of the system, rebuilding and revitalizing it.

Every druggist has Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in stock and sells them at 50 cents a box.

"HAIR THAT GIVES FATHER TIME THE LAUGH"

We are just about as old as we LOOK. People judge us, by the way we LOOK. The man or woman with grey hair is beginning to get in the "Old Time" class. The twentieth century does NOT want GREY hair—it wants the energy of youth. The big things are being done by the YOUNGER generation.

There's a sort of "Has Been" look about those "Grey Hairs." There's always one to criticize and smile scornfully. Father Time is a stern disciplinarian. Get the best of him. Give him the laugh. Do not be a "Has Been." It's unnecessary.

Pimpily? Well Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel. They are the "bowels" there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one or two for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

THANKSGIVING FEAST AT VETERANS' HOME

Levi K. Alden Writes Gazette of Preparations Being Made For the Thanksgiving Dinner at Home.

Preparations for Thanksgiving at the Wisconsin Veterans' Home, and other subjects of interest are discussed in a letter written by Levi K. Alden to the Gazette. The menu for Thanksgiving dinner at the Home is given by Mr. Alden, and the array of good things to be provided for the veterans and their wives, will give them at least a good dinner to be thankful for. Mr. Alden's letter follows:

Wisconsin Veterans' Home, November 25, 1912.

To the Editor:—When the members of the Home opened their eyes yesterday morning, they found the ground covered with a white coating, the first snow of the season, and they realized that Old Winter had really set in. Their next thought was one of joy, for it brought to their minds that Thanksgiving day was drawing near. Thanksgiving day always brings good cheer to the hearts of the veterans and this day will be an extra occasion for most of the boys have their increase of pension in their pockets and are in a fit mood to be thankful. On Thursday they will sit down to the following menu: Roast turkey with dressing, giblet sauce, mashed potatoes, peas and cream, green corn, baked sweet potatoes, apple and cranberry sauce, fruit salad, devil fruit, cream lemon cake, beet and cucumber, pickles, mince pie, waffles, oranges, apples and bananas, cream and soda crackers, tea, coffee and milk, American cheese and fresh cream, butter.

A few evenings since the "400" of the home had a grand blow out at the hospital. It was a scrapper supper and for the benefit of the uninitiated, I will state that it should have been called a scrap supper, for it was composed of a conglomeration of all the scraps in a kitchen mixed into an indigestible mess. There were present the members of the board, the officers of the home with their wives, the matrons of the several buildings, the chief of the dining hall, the head matron of the home and several prominent citizens of Waupaca. The function lasted until after midnight and was interspersed with music, songs, speeches and jokes. All in all it was a most enjoyable affair for all except the unfortunate sick, who were compelled to listen to the revelry without being allowed to participate. But what cared the "400" the rebate from the "old boys" paid the fiddler and it cut no ice with them so long as they had a good time.

I had a talk with a Mr. Simpson, who was a deputy U. S. marshal for Wisconsin in the days before the war. He recounted his experiences with the breaking up of the Hodson distillery at Shopiere, the confiscation of all his property, the breaking up of a hotel in Brodhead and the closing up of the Bunster brewery and other distilleries in Janesville. Mr. Simpson is a well preserved gentleman and full of reminiscences of the early days in Wisconsin. Now that cold weather has really set in the boats on the lakes are all in winter quarters and water traffic has about ceased, though the lakes are still open. One of our farmers reports that he has cribbed 800 bushels of good sound corn from nine acres of land and dug 1550 bushels of potatoes from an adjoining nine acres. That for a sandy soil is some crops. The spuds are now selling at 38c per bushel, but most of the growers are holding back for better prices. Simon Bunce was agreeably surprised Thursday evening on going to the door of his cottage and finding John Butler of F. Co. 13th Wis., standing there. They had not met since the musters out in Madison, in '65. Mr. Butler enlisted in Janesville in 1861 and served the full four years. He is now living with his daughter near Wausau. He spent two days here with members of the 13th. He discovered that Mr. Bunce was here through one of my letters to The Gazette, having that paper sent him regularly at Wausau.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE TURKEY.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE turkey is a noble, home-spun bird which is sold by the pound and eaten by the short ton. A few pounds of turkey, moved away on Thanksgiving day, will induce a feeling of sweet upside which is sometimes followed by mournful misgivings in the vicinity of the diaphragm.

Turkeys are never seen except during Thanksgiving week, when they suddenly spring up in serried ranks in the meat market, dressed in a chaste set of pin feathers and wearing a look of deep melancholy.

They are then taken home, lined with bread crumbs and oysters and dismembered by nervous and perspiring husbands, who try to appear happy and debonair while hunting around for the second joint.

The turkey is one of the most deceptive side-dishes now served in the American home. You never can tell by the complexion of a turkey whether it was fattened on chestnuts or ten-penny nails. Some turkeys have no tenderloin district whatever and become about as mealy as a rubber door mat, while others can be shaken over a gas range for fifteen minutes and will then fall apart faster than a fat man going through a folding chair. Never buy a turkey with strong and probatant muscular development unless you wish to do the carving with a jig saw, and a dynamite cap.

Nature has provided the turkey with two handles for carving purposes known as drumsticks. These have made it unnecessary for a man to waste a turkey all over the dining room table and spill the cranberry sauce in the effort to prevent it from securing the first fall. The best way to carve a turkey is to have it done in the kitchen by the hired girl, far from the rude and piercing witticisms of the guests.

A large, fourteen-pound turkey, which has lived a careful, prudent life, will repel the attacks of a whole family for several days, as it can be worked into the menu long after the Thanksgiving guests have departed. Turkeys would be eaten oftener if it were not for their powers of endurance.

An Honest Druggist Often Gives Good Advice.

It gives me great pleasure to take this method of thanking you for what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for my wife and at the same time to cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from kidney trouble.

My wife had suffered terribly from kidney disease and had tried all kinds of patent medicines with no success, until a druggist recommended Swamp-Root. That brought the only relief she has had in years and she is now feeling better than she ever did before. I believe this is due entirely to Swamp-Root and stand firm in my statement when I say that Swamp-Root is the king of all kidney remedies. You have my consent to publish this statement at any time in the interest of humanity.

Yours very truly,
E. B. TINGLE,

"The Man Higher Up"

"I'm not sure whether it is really important to me. I do not like the things it buys. But even more I like to think of the power it represents. It's that and the game of getting it that makes men want money in large quantities. Don't you think so?"

He remembered certain rumors he had heard concerning Stephen Hampden's rise to wealth and he put a guard upon his lips.

"I don't know much about it, I fear," which was entirely true. "After college I went to law school, then settled here. The family name and father's being a judge helped me to a quick start, I suppose. Since then I have done about as well as the average young lawyer in a small town. That is all. It is very commonplace."

"That doesn't explain why you are wanted by a whole country. It's your chance to escape the commonplace, isn't it? Popularity means power and power is splendid always—I'm primitive, you see, I would use it, revel in it, make it lift me into the high places." Dad says every one believes you have a big future. Which is good evidence that you have a big future, isn't it?"

"The wisdom of twenty-three!" he laughed.

"Oh, you won't take me seriously! Dad says I have the most intrusive executive mind he ever met. He is very nice about it. He often asks me what I think of things and men—"And then forms his own opinions?"

"That," she sighed, "is the disappointing fact."

"Did you plan that?" He pointed to a grove of trees on the crest of East ridge, through which gleamed the white stucco walls of that palatial residence so frequently mentioned in the Globe.

"Yes. Do you like it?"

"I haven't seen it except at a distance. But why in New Chelsea?"

"Why not?" she argued, with spirit. "Aren't our hills as beautiful as the Berkshires and the air as fine? Why shouldn't we enjoy the place the money comes from? And says a lot of money is to come from this valley in the next few years."

His face became suddenly grave. Thinking of her last words, he looked down at the quiet, old-fashioned, drowsy town that lay at the foot of the knob. Far away across the hills hovered a perennial cloud, smoke of Plumville's mills. Already it was being whispered that the sudden return of the big house with its air of permanence, were not without commercial significance. "John was a young man given to sentiment."

"I was thinking of New Chelsea," he said dryly. "So the old world change eth. The world of fashion and finance comes a-knocking at our door. Our peaceful valley is to be exploited."

"Can't you see the world moving—and New Chelsea with it?"

He was not looking at the shadow, but at her, silhouetted against the sky, strong with the strength of women whose fathers have toiled close to the soil, eager, palpitating with life, for life. He wondered curiously what manner of woman she was, what lay under the precarious hardness that could see only the picturesque in a ramshackle, poverty stricken Italian village and could dismiss with a careless laugh the fate of a chick in a hawk's clutches.

The line of shadow passed the summit of East ridge. The valley lay in twilight. They watched until the sun sank.

"Shall we go down?"

Together they went slowly down into the valley and its twilight to her home.

"We have now seen," she said, "a sunrise and a sunset together."

"And the evening and the morning were the first day," he quoted smilingly.

"I wonder what the next day holds."

"Aunt Roberta," he laughed, "hopes that I'll fall in love with you."

"How perfectly absurd! Although it might redress the balance, unless," she added demurely, "I should suffer a return of my youthful melody."

"Which would be doubly absurd. It's like chickenpox. Having had one attack, you are thereafter immune."

They laughed gaily.

On the terrace blue tables were set and John renewed his acquaintance with Stephen Hampden, a short, stocky, pleasant voiced man, who in no way resembled the manning pirate that rumor had him. Also with Mrs. Hampden, a lady who toiled not spin, but was always tired and talked in a languid, honeyed voice.

There were also Warren Blake, solemn and handsome, and his mother, a shy, faded old woman, frightened in the presence of "society folk," and not altogether happy in the Sunday splendor of best black silk and bouffant. Mrs. Hampden said Newport would be deprived of the Hampdens' presence that summer, because she had the new house to open and, moreover, preferred to remain with her husband, who had important business matters to oversee.

"She means," Katherine whispered, "that Dad caught a tartar in Wall street."

Later the Blakes rose to leave. Warren with surprising tact covering the awkwardness of his mother's farewells, and then, unostentatiously gentle, escorting her away.

Hampden caught his wife yawning daintily. "Well, Maria, since you're so tired, we might as well go in and leave these young people to themselves. The chaplain has no standing in New Chelsea."

After a languid good night to John Mrs. Hampden went, with an air of utter weariness, into the house.

Hampden, however, for the space of one cigar, remained on the terrace, chatting pleasantly, during which time John discovered that even Steve Hampden, hard driver of men and daring speculator, had a very likable side and took a mighty pride in his daughter.

When the cigar had been tossed away Hampden rose, shaking hands cordially with John.

"I'd better take my own advice. I have to work tomorrow, but don't you miss this fairy night. Come around often, John. And don't let this girl flirt the head from your shoulders."

"I'm already fearful for my peace of mind," John laughed. "But I shall come often, thank you."

It would be evidence of an officious surveillance to set down here just how often John Dunmeade journeyed to the ugly house behind the hedge. It was not, however, thanks to the duties of his candidacy, as often as he would have liked.

But there were other matters demanding the attention of John Dunmeade, nominee for the office of district attorney by grace of the bosses' choice. For he saw an army, whose discipline and weapons and effectiveness caused him to wonder, go forth to war. Not with pomp and panoply—that was to come later. This was the time for scout and reconnaissance, for the drawing of maps, the seizing of strategic positions and for numbering the enemy. The enemy—the people—John perceived, made no counter preparations, did not even see the necessity.

Jeremy Applegate one day gave John a new point of view. Jeremy was an old soldier, a cripple, and a clerk in the recorder's office.

"I'm almighty, glad," said Jeremy, "that for once I've got to work for a man I got some respect for. I'm a pretty specimen of citizen, ain't I?" he exclaimed bitterly. "I got a job. Why've I got it—because I'm fit for it? Guess you lawyers that have to read my kinkly handwrite know better'n that. It's because I'm an old soldier and a pegleg and the kind of shrimp that'll go round whinin' to his friends about his job so's to get them to vote the ticket. Yessir, I'm that kind. I fit for my country all right, but I did it because it was my duty, not so's to be able to get a job and beg for votes afterward. I was a man then. Now I'm a parasite. For nigh on twenty years I've done it, because I can't make a livin' any other way, for good men and bad men, for them I can respect—mostly for them I can't respect. I ain't allowed a mind of my own n'r a conscience, and every time I go campaignin' I feel like a pup. Do you know what it is? It's hell, that's what it is."

"What we need," said John, "is civil service."

"Civil service! They've got civil service in the postoffice. Did you ever hear of a postmaster or his clerk that wasn't in politics?"

But a grumbling soldier often is a good fighter; witness Jeremy on a scouting expedition. It began at the establishment of Silas Hicks, liverman. Jeremy, being a pegleg, cannot tramp the weary miles ahead of him.

He drives out into the country, brow wrinkled as he marshals his arguments. He has no eyes for the calm beauty of the afternoon. He pulls in the jogging horse beside a field in the middle of which a man is seen driving a hayrack. In response to Jeremy's hail the man descends from his seat and walks slowly over to the fence.

"Howdy, comrade," says Jeremy.

"Howdy, Jeremy."

"Good harvestin' weather."

"Party good," comrade agrees. There is not a cloud in the sky.

"Smoke?" suggests Jeremy. From a bulging pocket he draws forth a cigar girdled by a gaudy red and gold band. They are very good cigars, costing $10 the hundred. At home repose three boxes of them, recently purchased. Jeremy has needed a new suit and his wife a new dress for more than a year. These luxuries, however, must be postponed.

The farmer holds the cigar to his nose, sniffing approvingly. "I'll keep it till after supper." He deposits it carefully on the bottom rail of the fence beside his water jug.

Jeremy resorts again to the bulging pocket. "Keep that and smoke this now," he offers generously. The farmer lights the cigar. From another pocket Jeremy draws forth his own weed. This pocket is not so well filled and contains only "three fers" for Jeremy's own consumption.

After further preliminaries Jeremy opens fire.

"Spose you're goin' to git into line this fall, same as ever, comrade?" he remarks casually.

The farmer leans on the fence in an attitude suited to comfortable argument. "Well, I don't know's I am."

"With Johnny Dunmeade on the ticket?"

"I'll vote for him. He's all right. Does my law work. I don't think much of the state ticket, though."

Northwith Jeremy launches into a passionate defense of his party, in which the tariff is freely mentioned. Reference is made also to the days when comrade and he shared blankets together on the red soil of Virginia. He talks rapidly, dreading to hear the argument which he cannot answer. Comrade is not unimpressed, but is far from conviction.

"Well, I don't know," he says slowly. And then brings forth the thing that has been haunting Jeremy's nights and days. "I'm bothered some about that trust company business. Looks to me as if some of Murchell's politicians was at the bottom of it. When they git to foolin' with our banks, it's time to make a change. If we let 'em go on, how'm I to know that my bank ain't mixed up with 'em?"

There is a silence, while Jeremy braces himself for his duty. "I know. It-it's been botherin' me, too. But," he looks away and tries manfully to keep the white out of his voice, "I'm askin' you as a favor to me to overlook it. They've served notice on me that I've got to bring in my list for the whole ticket or my job goes."

There is another silence, a longer one, while the farmer chews his cigar reflectively.

"Well," he says at last, "I'd like to do ye a favor, Jeremy. I'll think it over."

CHAPTER IV. The Nazirite.

MANY years before there had come to New Chelsea a shepherd to lend the Presbyterian flock and to die, leaving his wife, a shy, plain little woman, and her son, to struggle with the problem of existence. She must have struggled effectively, for New Chelsea bears witness that never was recourse had to its ready charity. Some credit must be given to the son who, when public school days were over, bent himself to the problem; a moon, faced lad who blinked unconcerningly at the teasing and pranks of his former schoolmates. Slow, patient, unobtrusive, of the sort that despite sundry time honored maxims usually finds recognition reluctant, he yet won it quickly.

When those of his generation whose fathers had been able to provide a college education returned on the threshold of manhood to begin life, they found Warren Blake already, in the eyes of his neighbors, a success, assistant cashier of the bank and owner of certain small mortgages, but not at all boastful over it. He continued, even when he became cashier, modestly unaware that he had become a model young man. He was a literal man who took all things seriously, his duty to his bank, his trusteeship of the Presbyterian church. He was rarely known to laugh.

After thirty-five years' acquaintance New Chelsea had found no explanation of him. It was admitted that even Judge Dunmeade, who had a liking for sonorous phrases, had failed with his "triumph of the commonplace virtues."

And it continued to choose Warren Blake as treasurer for those organizations requiring such an officer, executor of its last wills and testaments and trustee of its estates, of which trusts he always rendered prompt and exact accounts.

And now, all New Chelsea knew, he and Stephen Hampden were organizing a company of fabulous capitalization to work the coal fields.

One morning in mid July Warren was as usual at his desk. The day had already become hot and stifling. The clerks at the counter grumbled profanely at the rule, promulgated by Warren, that forbade them to appear coatless, and glanced enviously through the plate glass partition at the cashier, very handsome and cool looking in his light gray suit, socks and necktie to match. He was reading, with a slow care that overlooked no syllable, the papers on the desk. When he had read them he arranged them in two neat little piles, which he labeled "Options Granted" and "Options Refused."

The American Goose.

The adoption of the eagle as a national emblem by the United States may be all right, but it might have been still better to adopt the goose. We have never heard of the eagle doing anything great, but last month a goose walked into a church in Illinois during the services and drove half the congregation outdoors before she got out herself, by flying through a window. An old gander, when thoroughly mad, is more dangerous than a dog.

Old at 40.

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying "I can't do this, and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fail build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strengthener.

Mr. J. N. Kelley, aged 75 who lives at Lake Charles, La., says: "I took Vinol for a run-down condition, it not only built up my strength, but I feel fifteen years younger than I did before taking it."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. Smith Drug Company, Janesville, Wis.

Thus the wild geese which fed on the muskels of the Mississippi, Wabash, St. Francis, Tennessee and other pearl streams at Harris with their muskels, but the farmers never found a valuable pearl in their crops; the muskels—barques—however, were common enough to find place in hunter talk in the Mississippi Basin.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 27, 1872.—Burned To Death: The oldest daughter of W. Lind, who lives two miles northeast of Milton, met with a frightful accident last Wednesday. Her mother stepped out of the house a few minutes and came back to find her little girl enveloped in flames, her clothing having taken fire from the stove. As soon as possible the fire was extinguished but not until the child was so badly burned that death ensued that day. The parent's hands were badly burned in the operation. The child was four years old.

Y. M. A. Nominations: At the regular meeting of the Young Men's Association last night the routine of business was dispensed with and the association proceeded to the nomination of officers, with the following result: For president, A. H. Baxter; for vice presidents, H. D. McKimsy and Horace McElroy; for recording secretary, E. P. Welch; for treasurer, Wm. Smith, Jr.; and W. D. Parker; for assistant librarian, E. F. Carpenter; for marshal, C. W. Storey.

Brief Items: Tobacco buyers' are gathering up the last year's crop. Gilbert Hogan's house, on Court street, in the third ward, was also entered by burglars on Sunday night, but nothing of value is missing. Mr. Hogan and family are in Glen and the house was without occupation.

BY WALT MASON

Today is the day for me—the present is always ours; I'll bump like a bumblebee that rustles among the flowers; all thoughts of the past I've spurned, all sighs for the days of old; for yesterday's wood is burned, and yesterday's stove is cold. The present is in our grasp, for glorious deeds or crimes; then why do we sit and grieve, and yearn for the good old times? The past is beneath the sod, we have but this flying hour; for yesterday's ice is thawed, and yesterday's milk is sour. Let's gather a store of plums, each doing his little best, so that when the evening comes and brings us the hour of rest, our neighbors may see the junk for which we have wrought and toiled; for yesterday's drinks are drunk, and yesterday's eggs are spoiled. Tomorrow is but a ghost, and yesterday's but a dream; to work with the hustling

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

Half a Bite Onward.

"Kindly give me fourteen dollars' worth of commutation ticket," said Professor Snitzelsauer, "the cost of living and one thing and another compel me to economize, and I ride to and fro so much that I think a commutation ticket would be cheaper, so please do not keep me standing here any longer with your idle chatter."

He stepped into the train with the commutation ticket in one hand and Herr Dudlump's big volume, "Gesner Gesellschaft-Verein Mathematik-Kuchen-Baden," in the other. Slipping the ticket in his hat band he opened the book to page 987, for he had only 3009 more pages to go.

Al-Brundhilden-on-the-Klumpf, the conductor, an august-minded sort of a cuss, took the ticket out of Professor Snitzelsauer's hat and punched a hole in it.

On his way through the train five minutes later he punched another hole in it.

Five minutes later on his way through the train he punched another hole in it.

He punched another hole in it on his way through the train five minutes later.

He punched another hole in it five minutes later on his way through the train and, to make a long story just the right length, etc., etc. That evening Professor Snitzelsauer wrote an interesting letter to the "Evening Spillhammer," describing how the insidious bill weevil had deserted the cotton fields to infest commutation tickets.

"What do they say?" the man asked, greatly astonished.

"Whenevah dey sees me," said the boy, "dey all says, 'Look at de coon, look at de coon, look at de coon!'"

PRESENCE OF MIND.

There are symptoms of panic in the theater. A big man in the front row arises. "Sit down!" he roars. "There is no danger! Sit down!" The stampeding audience stops, turns, and faces him. "Sit down!" he orders. "The people obediently sit down. 'I will go to the entrance and show you there is no danger whatever,' the big man says. He strolls along the aisle, reaches the exit, and rushes out. "That's what I call presence of mind," he tells himself. "I never could have got out of there if I hadn't stopped that panic."

IT'S RISKY

IT'S A BIG RISK to hold an auction sale unless it is well advertised. You put up $2000 worth of property for sale; maybe it will bring $2000; maybe $1500; maybe less. It's up to you. It all depends upon how well you advertise it. One that is thoroughly advertised cannot help but be a success. Almost every sale that is advertised in the Gazette brings more than the proprietor expected. You can save a few dollars by trying to get along with a few bills of running a small ad in a paper with little circulation, but how about results? Will you find that you have saved anything when you count your money at the close of the sale? Dare you take chances on $2000 worth of property to save a few dollars at the outset?
